When the troops reported "All ready," car No. 541, which had been brought up with men as stated, was started down the line with two motormen, two conductors, two policemen and three reporters on board. Just as the start was made the commander of the Seventh Regiment could see several persons in the second window of a hotel opposite the depot. It was ordered closed. The order was not instantly obeyed, so he fired a shot into the house and the window closed. The cars returned without damage on schedule time.

The following order has been issued by Superintendent Campbell:
"OFFICE OF THE
"SUPERINTENDENT OF POLICE,
"BROOKLYN, Jan. 22.

"Ordered, that any officer who suffers without resistance to the best of his ability any motorman or conductor or any employee of any railroad company to be taken from the car or to be otherwise as assaulted, or fails to promptly arrest any person so assaulting or attempting to assault any such motorman, conductor or any employee, or fails promptly to arrest any person who puts or attempts to put any obstruction on the track or otherwise to interfere or attempts to interfere with the free operation of the railroad, whether by cutting wires, trolley ropes; also obstructions or otherwise, will, on proof being produced before the commissioner, be at once dismissed from the force.

"By order of the Commissioner,
(Signed) "J. P. CAMPBELL."

During the afternoon and evening there occurred no less than seven collisions of trolley cars, with many persons killed or injured.

INCIDENTS OF THE DAY.

BROOKLYN, Jan. 22.—There was an unusual calm this morning at the Alabama-avenue station, but on the Fulton-avenue line the soldiers were armed. Each avenue line the soldiers were stopped. Each stable is crowded with tired soldiers. Outside in the fog where they could see only three paces before them the pickets halted every passer-by to know his business. They were in no humor for nonsense and it was with ill grace that they stood the fusillade of missiles hurled from the impenetrable darkness. While they did not make an open manifestation, the under make an open manifestation, the mob busied themselves in cutting wires. At Gates and Myrtle avenues they cut the wires for about two blocks. On Gates avenue, between Knickerbocker and Central avenues, they also cut the wires and carried them away.

At Flatbush it was discovered that a man had made his way into the stable and attempted to bribe new men there to desert their posts under promise of being well paid for staying away from their work. It was discovered that some other miscreant had tampered with the motor-boxes of some of the cars. He was discovered in the stables and fought like a demon. One man received a black eye and the man escaped. Every precaution is being taken to prevent any stranger entering the power-houses and there have been threats that the stable and power-houses will be blown up.

Another conference between Brig.-Gen. McAleer, Mayor Schieren, the Executive Committee of the strikers and the presidents of the railroad companies was announced for today. After midnight a non-union man named O'Neill was knocked down and kicked until almost unconscious.

down and kicked until almost unconscious. He was then bound hand and foot with wire, carried into the middle of an empty lot and kept there until daylight. His fetters were then removed and he was escorted to the Broadway ferry. His fare was paid and he was told not to return under penalty of worse treatment next time. Saloons in the neighborhood of the car stables are crowded with strikers and friends. Two boys were badly injured by being trampled upon by strikers in the conflict between soldiers and rioters last night at Edgewood.

The companies are still unable to secure new men to run all their cars, and it is not expected that any more cars will be running today than yesterday. The companies are still further hampered by the refusal of linemen to repair cut wires. C. O. Appleton has ordered his men when

About 2 o'clock this afternoon a mob at Buffalo avenue attacked a Fulton-street car. Troop A, under command of Lieut. Bagley, came to the assistance of the pohce, and the strikers were dispersed. The cars on the Broadway line have stopped, on account of the cutting of wires at Rockaway avenue. A large crowd congregated there, and Capt. Gorman and a carload of policemen went to the scene of trouble.

It was rumored that the strike had been declared off at 6 o'clock, but Master Workman Connelly denied the report. Police Superintendent Campbell has been notified that the trolley electricians have gone on a strike. Other electricians may follow suit.

The Seventh Regiment had a fierce fight with the strikers of East New York. It is reported that several soldiers have been injured. The strikers threw stones, breaking cars at the stable.

THE STORM KING.

His Absolute Despotism in the North.

Rotary Flows and an Army of Showers Besiege His Dominion.

The Country About Red Bluff is Under Water—The Napa River Overflows—The Narrow Escape of a Train.

Associated Press Special-Service.

SACRAMENTO, Jan. 22.—The storm in the Sierra Nevada and along the coast line continues with apparently no sign of cessation in its violence. Despite the enormous snowfall and the drifts caused by the heavy winds, the railroad officials have been enabled to keep the road through the Sierra Nevada entirely clear and passenger trains are moving nearly on time.

Not only is there no stoppage of travel on account of the heavy snowfall, but freight is being forwarded daily to Eastern points. Freight trains, to be sure, are not running on time, but advantage is being taken of every lull in the storm to push them onward to some point where they can be temporary to be tracked out until the condition of the road to the next available point can be ascertained.

No chances are taken in the moving of traffic, and the road must be absolutely clear before trains are moved. Never has the railroad been so completely and perfectly supplied with the means of meeting the assaults of the Storm King as they are at the present period, and they assert that they are able to keep the track clear without difficulty unless some unforeseen accident occurs.

Three rotary snowplows are kept constantly moving on the exposed portion of the track, and a large number of snowshovels are scattered along at all the threatened points, and can be conveyed to any place on the road on short notice. At a few points where the snow has been found necessary to broaden the space between the snowbanks by shoveling, but in the main the rotaries have been all sufficient to remove the snow deposits as fast as they fall.

Working in three feet of snow, these machines will throw to a distance of 300 feet, or to give a clearer idea of their power, if one was run through the streets of Sacramento with that depth of snow to battle with, it would throw the snow over two-story buildings and deposit it in the back alleys. In the heavy drifts of eight feet and upward the machines throw to a distance of fifty feet and possibly a little farther.

Travel is temporarily stopped on account of the enormous snowfall that occurred on Monday in the canyon near Castle Creek. The railroad company has a large force of men engaged in clearing the track, and the officials hope to be able to forward trains today. Local trains between this city and Red Bluff are running by way of Marysville without hindrance.

A heavy washout in the vicinity of Willow has caused that line to be abandoned temporarily. At present, the track where the washout occurred near Dunnigan is entirely covered with water and it is simply impossible to get the road open until the damage incurred, or the necessary time that will be required to make needed repairs.

There is a remarkable similarity between the present storm and the one that occurred in January, 1880. Both began on the same date, the 15th, and statistics show that nearly the same amount of snow fell on similar dates in the years of 1880, which caused an absolute blockade in the Sierra Nevada, lasted fifteen days, and by present appearances it will be equalled if not surpassed by the one now raging.

The official reports for the last twenty-four hours show the snowfall to have been: Trucks, 2 inches, on the ground, 7 feet; Summit, 15 inches; on the ground, 20 feet; Cascade, 20 inches, on the ground, 17 feet, 1 inch; Emigrant Gap, 15 inches, on the ground, 14 feet, 7 inches; Blue Canyon, 5 inches; on the ground, 9 feet. The railroad company will tonight send up from Oakland a force of 100 men with hydraulic pumps and other appliances to sluice out the snow from the canyon of the Sacramento River, and the railroad in the vicinity of Castle Creek near Dunnigan. Monitors will be turned upon the snowbanks until they are cut through. The snow is higher on the Yolo side of the river, some miles below here, are said to be giving way and the backwaters of the tule basin are reported as creeping up toward Washington. It is expected that some of the lower portions of that village will be covered with water.

THE MOST SEVERE IN FIVE YEARS. SAN FRANCISCO, Jan. 22.—(Special Dispatch.) The Herald's Washington correspondent telegraphs that the need of a vessel on the Pacific coast, near the boundary line of Mexico and Guatemala, owing to the disturbed condition of affairs between those two countries, growing out of the boundary-line dispute, making it unsafe for the officials to send the two vessels ready for this duty, the Bennington and Ranger, with the chances in favor of the latter.

The administration has another reason for deciding that a vessel should be stationed in this vicinity. According to reports received at the Bureau of Naval Intelligence, the British government has the protected cruisers, Royal Arthur, Champlain, Satellite and Nymphe, at Acapulco, within easy steaming distance of the disputed territory. There is no fear that the British men-of-war will interfere, but it is considered safer for the preservation of the Monroe doctrine that an American vessel should be at hand.

The Bennington, if she does not remain at this station, will probably go along the Pacific coast of South America, stopping especially at ports in Peru, where a far more serious condition of affairs exists than is generally supposed.

A Boston Friend Dead. BOSTON, Jan. 22.—Arthur M. Forrester, a well-known writer and poet, died here today. He was for some time assistant editor of the Irish World and was the organizer of a number of the Fenian raids in Ireland and the North of England.

SURPASSING MAGNIFICENCE. SACRAMENTO, Jan. 22.—The scene in the Sierras is one of surpassing magnificence. It seems as if the route of the Central Pacific would point out the line of the greatest snowfall, with drifts thirty feet deep and snow twenty feet deep on the level at the Summit, the utmost energies of the railroad people are put to the test. The rotaries are tossing snow in continuous streams from the roadbed, but from Gold Run to Truckee snow is falling at the rate of an inch or more an hour. Luckily the wind is not blowing, and the situation is not complicated by the formidable and snow-covered mountains so often make railroading and even ascent in the high Sierras perilous.

In places hardy mountaineers by the smaller towns communicate by means of sledges through the snow. Habitations are cluttered and the reign of the storm is magnificent but desolate, is supreme. The snow proceeds cautiously, though solid perpendicular banks of snow, like marble walls, towering above them. The rotaries moved them in ceaseless toil, cutting the way that a thousand men have prepared. The snow is falling so fast that it is not certain that the push-plows and shovels will not have to be invoked to keep the way open.

If the storm continues it will severely test the levees. A warm rain on the mountain snow now would bring a greater body of water on the valley than in 1861-62. Word was received early this morning that the snow on the summit of the mountains had reached a level with the cross-arms on the telegraph poles, and that four more inches of snow would prostrate every wire over the mountains.

NAPA RIVER RUNS RIOT.

NAPA, Jan. 22.—For the second time within three weeks Napa River is out of its banks and running riot through fields, roads and city streets. Before midnight last night many of the residents of Spaulding were taken from their houses in boats and conveyed to higher sections. All the eastern side of the river, from the steamboat landing south along Grant avenue is under water, ranging in depth from a few inches to three feet. The tanneries, trolley mills and some of the other manufacturing concerns have been shut down, being surrounded by water.

Grant avenue, one of the principal residential streets, has water enough to make boating near its entire length. A washout in the upper end of the city on the railroad prevents trains from running, but the train from the north came this far and passengers and baggage were transferred to the train from the south. A washout at San Francisco also came here and had its train transferred to the train north of the track. It is still raining hard, with no sign of cessation. Thus far the water is not as high as three weeks ago.

IN SOUTH DAKOTA. PINE RIDGE, Jan. 22.—Snow to the depth of seven feet and three inches has fallen at the Plume Company's mill, fifty miles east of this city, and it is fifteen feet deep a few miles higher up in the mountains.

NARROW ESCAPE OF A TRAIN. SAN FRANCISCO, Jan. 22.—The train which arrived from Sacramento this evening had a narrow escape from destruction. Just as the train passed South Vallejo, a large landslide occurred near the tunnel, and a huge mass of rock and earth buried itself in the track. The road is blocked and a force of men has been sent to remove the obstruction.

A FLOOD NEAR RED BLUFF. SAN FRANCISCO, Jan. 22.—Reports to the weather observer from Red Bluff say that the Sacramento River, at Red Bluff, is entirely out of its banks on the east side, and that a great extent of country is under water. Great damage to property is being done under the flood recedes tonight.

BAD MEN AND GUNS.

Another Story of Those Smuggled Arms.

Where the Tools Came from, that Caused Mischief in Hawaii.

Discovery of a Business-man at Victoria—Opium and Weapons are Transferred at Night to the South Bend.

Associated Press Special-Service.

SAN FRANCISCO, Jan. 22.—A gentleman whose business has brought him into contact with the customs officials has just returned from Victoria and tells a rather startling story regarding the shipment of forty cases of arms on the notorious smuggling schooner South Bend to the Hawaiian Islands. He says: "During my residence in Victoria and the surrounding towns last October, I saw a great deal of the band of smugglers who have their headquarters along the Sound. It was there I met Billy Stewart, who is known in Honolulu as 'Opium Brown,' and Jack Forbes, alias 'Jack Regan.' These men were well known to the customs officials. About October 22, I was walking under the Esquimalt Bridge, near the terminus of the Esquimalt and Nanaimo Railroad. In the recesses of an arch I noticed a pile of cases carefully covered with canvas. Each case was about four feet in length, a foot square and, I have since learned, contained rifles and carbines. I made the find about 4 o'clock in the afternoon.

"At that time the South Bend was at anchor in a small inlet just outside the harbor, and I saw a Chinese junk, about five hundred pounds of opium, packed in clothes-baskets, were transferred from the store of Pook On Song & Co., the most prominent dealer in opium of the Sound. The baskets were all placed under the bridge near the arms and that night the drug and cases of rifles were transferred to the South Bend in a small rowboat. She left the inlet about midnight, and, for the first time in the history of her smuggling cruises, the owners, Stewart & Forbes, went aboard the schooner and took charge of the trip all the way to the islands, where they landed off the west coast of the island of Lanai.

"The arms and opium were smuggled ashore and stored on a Chinese plantation directly opposite where the schooner anchored. Stewart & Forbes are still in Honolulu. Both men are notorious smugglers and swindlers and are wanted by the authorities of Seattle and other Northwestern towns. For a number of years they have been openly engaged in opium smuggling and have succeeded in accumulating considerable money."

"KEEPING HIS PAWS OFF. LONDON, Jan. 22.—It is officially stated that the British consular agent at Hawaii is maintaining an absolutely neutral attitude, and it is added that there is no foundation for the report that the Royal High, when they returned last month, were assured by him that the British consular agent at Hawaii would recognize them as the government.

ANTI-PARKHURST. Rev. Mulhally Will Complain Against the Presbyterian's Indorsement.

SAN FRANCISCO, Jan. 22.—There was a meeting of the New York Presbyterian in the First Presbyterian Church here yesterday. A letter was received from the Rev. J. M. Mulhally, who made himself conspicuous at the meeting of the New York Presbyterian by voting against the indorsement of the reform work of the Rev. Charles Parkhurst. The communication was addressed to the Rev. R. R. Booth, D. D., LL. D., as the moderator of the assembly and said: "I hereby respectfully notify you that I have decided to complain against the indorsement of the reform work of the Rev. Charles Parkhurst and his reform work, to our general assembly at its meeting in Pittsburgh next May."

Some reluctance was manifested by the ministers present as to allowing the reception of the complaint, but the moderator announced that no other course was open.

Dr. John C. Bliss then introduced a resolution denouncing the proposed effort to secure a Sunday liquor law in this city. In which he called upon the ministers of the Presbyterian to agitate the matter from their pulpits and to use every effort to overcome any legislation in the matter.

THE DEMPSTER HEIRS. Twelve Years of Litigation Result in Their Favor.

CHICAGO, Jan. 22.—After litigation extending over twelve years, the heirs of Rev. John Dempster, by the decision of the Supreme Court, are declared to be owners of the land on which the Rose Hill Cemetery Company. The interest given the heirs is estimated to be worth $100,000.

The heirs are Mrs. Mary E. D. Goodfellow, wife of Dr. William Goodfellow, the Methodist educator, and Mrs. Sarah D. McKee, wife of Dr. William McKee, the son of Clancy J. Dempster, also of San Francisco and the children of K. R. V. Lansing. At one time the Dempster heirs claimed that the Rose Hill Cemetery Company was building a monument to their father, but the offer was declined.

SPRUNG THE TRAP. A Young Man at Yankton Forgets a Warning and is Shot.

YANKTON, (S. D.), Jan. 22.—Frank Elliott, residing in Meckling, a small town near here, met his death in a trap set for burglars by his uncle last evening. Taylor, Elliott's uncle, keeps a store. He arranged a shotgun at the front door so that it would be discharged through the door by the slightest movement of the latch.

The weapon was placed there to guard against burglars and Elliott was told of it. He forgot it, however, and went to the door, lifted the latch and the gun was discharged, killing him. The bullet entered his right eye, passing through the brain and striking the cerebellum, and he died soon afterward.

A SMALL ADS WORK. H. Swango Besieged by Applicants Desirous of Marrying Him.

LOGANSPORT, (Ind.), Jan. 22.—Henry Swango, a wealthy farmer of Fulton county, who was recently divorced, advertised in the local papers for a new helpmate. In the last two weeks his replies have averaged twenty-seven daily, and are still pouring in on every side in alarming quantities. He had to employ a private secretary to investigate the merits of the respective applicants, while the business of his home postoffice has been more than doubled.

CREDIT SALES.

An Interesting Decision in the Case of a Chicago Haberdasher.

Associated Press Special-Service.

CHICAGO, Jan. 22.—A case of great importance to manufacturers and retail dealers has just been decided by United States Judge Grosscup. A retail haberdasher of the name of Schuster was closed up on an execution and the United States Marshal was instructed to sell the goods at public sale. A local firm of wholesale manufacturers of collars and cuffs filed an intervenors' petition claiming that among the stock of the delinquent haberdasher was a large consignment of collars and cuffs which belonged to them. The intervenors claimed that three years ago they made a contract with Schuster to furnish him with a stock of their goods retaining, however, the proprietary interest. Schuster paying them at the end of each month for the amount of his sales during the month. Counsel for the other creditors argued that any such contract was clearly against public policy as it gave the consignee an appearance of ownership and enabled him to get a credit that otherwise he could not obtain. The argument proved weighty with the court for Judge Grosscup sustained the petition and dismissed the wholesalers' bill for want of equity. The decision will prove special weight with manufacturers of agricultural and musical instruments, as it is an open secret that retail dealers in these classes of goods sell almost entirely on consignment.

A LOTTERY CASE. The Louisiana Refuses to Make an Accounting.

NEW YORK, Jan. 22.—Charles H. Murray, John Morris and Zee Simmons, who compose the firm of Charles H. Murray & Co., the New York agent of the Louisiana Lottery, filed a demurrer in the United States Circuit Court to the suit of Harry P. Watson, as trustee of the affairs of the lottery company for the benefit of stockholders.

The defendants say that Watson's claim is outlived, the lottery company is a corporation and cannot be sued by a stockholder. The court refused to grant the demurrer and the case will go on for trial.

WHY HE QUIT. SECRET OF CASIMIR-PERIER'S RESIGNATION.

He is About to Secure a Divorce from His Wife—The Proceedings Begun Before He Became President.

By Telegraph To The Times. NEW YORK, January 22.—(Special Dispatch.) The Herald's Paris correspondent cables that the causes which led to the resignation of Casimir-Perier are still being discussed by everybody, but none of the theories or surmises advanced appear to be anywhere near the truth. The following details come from a close friend of the family of the ex-President:

The real cause of the resignation of Casimir-Perier, according to the informant, was not at all political, but of a purely private character. This is on the point of seeking to obtain a divorce from Mme. Casimir-Perier, and the causes for this are already of long standing. As a matter of fact, the first step in the proceedings had already been taken by Casimir-Perier's lawyers before he became President of the republic.

At that time his mother intervened, and her applications induced him to accept of the high office to which he was called, in hopes that the political and public life that he and his wife would be forced to lead, would put an end to their disagreements. But their misunderstandings became worse, and when Casimir-Perier found the joys of political power did not compensate him for domestic annoyances which his intimate friend, Burdeau, died, and when his other friend, Raynaud, was hounded down by the Chamber of Deputies because of railway complications, in a fit of anger he resigned.

At the Palace of Justice it is said that a divorce is imminent. In spite of all this, which certainly forms a very valid reason for Casimir-Perier's resignation, the most intimate friends of the ex-President judge his conduct very severely.

LOOTED THE VAULT. A Stock of Jewelry Carried off by Burglars.

CHICAGO, Jan. 22.—Burglars effected an entrance to the offices of the Berlin and Montello Granite Company at No. 162 Washington street, last night, and looted the vault which had not been securely locked, securing the entire stock of jewelry of Joseph Conlan, who jointly used the vault and cash and other valuables to the amount of $2000, including a $600 diamond pin.

Conlan's loss is about $1500 and the granite company loses mortgages, notes, deeds, etc., many of which cannot be replaced, representing thousands of dollars. Experts are trying to trace the job, and thus far no clue to their identity has been obtained.

A LOVERS' QUARREL. Thomas Hersey Shoots His Sweetheart and Kills Himself.

NEWBURYPORT (Mass.), January 22.—Thomas E. Hersey, a shoe-cutler, aged 23, attempted to murder his sweetheart, Emma Ellery, by shooting her twice, both shots taking fatal effect. He then fired a bullet through his own brain, dying soon after he had been taken to the hospital. They were walking along the side streets of the city at the time and a quarrel arose between them, presumably over some love affair.

A GREEK HUFF. The Cabinet Resigns and the Chamber May be Dissolved.

ATHENS, Jan. 22.—By Atlantic Cable. The entire Greek Ministry has resigned. A party of Bouras followed the announcement. It is said the resignation of the Tricoupi Ministry was the outcome of the audience which the Premier had with the King, in which the former made a representation with reference to the interference of the Crown Prince in the demonstration of Sunday. The King is said to have resented the remarks of the Premier.

A Horrible Fate. LAPORTE, (Ind.), Jan. 22.—George Osborn, a prominent citizen of Waukegan, this county, was killed in a horrible manner last night while jumping from a large iron hook which holds the target-cage in place. The hook entered his back, gripping around his spinal column and holding him in place. He was discovered bleeding to death.

A BAD EGG. A MILLIONAIRE'S SON IS ARRESTED.

B. F. Hageman Said to Have Been Passing Bogus Checks in Various Cities—He Has Caused His Father Trouble.

CHICAGO, January 22.—B. F. Hageman, said to be the son of a Philadelphia millionaire, is under arrest here, charged with passing bogus checks. The police say that this is not Hageman's first offense, he having been arrested a year ago for burglary and the theft of a lot of jewelry from Miss Ida Bennett, who lives on Chestnut street, Chicago. This scrape, it is alleged, was hatched up by the young man's relatives. At that time it was thought that he was also wanted in Fort Worth, Tex., for passing bogus and forged checks. Telegrams were sent to the Chief of Police there, and it was learned that all his difficulties in that place had been settled by his father.

To several other cities, it is said, young Hageman has committed felonies of various kinds, and that his father has spent thousands of dollars in trying to keep his son out of the penitentiary. He is now charged with passing bogus checks. R. S. Stephens, John H. Hageman, Jr., V. C. Cator, J. Senator Perkins had one more than was necessary for a choice.

The vote was as follows: For Senator Perkins: Ash, Belshaw, Bennett, Berry, Bledsoe, Bruns, Bull, Butler, Cargill, Coleman, Cutler, Davis, Dodge, Dunbar, Ewing, Fassett, Freeman, Glass, Guy, Huber, Hudson, Johnson, Jones, Keen, Kenyon, Laird, Llewellyn, McKelvey, Nelson, North, Osborn, Pendleton, Price, Powell, Spencer, Staley, Stannell, Switzer, Tibbits, Wade, Wymore, Wykes—42.

For Mr. DeYoung—Messrs. Baard, Bettendorf, Bockley, Davitt, Dinkelspiel, Dixon, Hatfield, Kelsey, Lewis, Lynch, Wilkinson, Zocchi—12.

For Mr. Bowers—Messrs. Dale, Merrill, Richards—3.

For Mr. Neff—Messrs. Gay, Hall, Phelps, Thomas, Tomblin—5.

Ball for Debs. WASHINGTON, Jan. 22.—Debs and his associates will be released from McHenry County Jail tomorrow on $2000 bail each in accordance with the recent order of the Supreme Court.

To Plant Fruit Trees in Alkali Soil. Maj. Berry, Horticultural Commissioner of Tulare county, gives the following advice about the planting of fruit trees in alkali soil. Of course no man should plan an orchard in a strong alkali soil, but alkali spots in an orchard tract may probably be utilized by Maj. Berry's system, which is thus given:

"Dig the holes for the trees a little larger and deeper than ordinarily. In the bottom of the hole put a layer of alkali soil. Then place a layer of straw, clean straw, and then a layer of alkali soil. Now, take any old fruit can and spring it apart by putting it in the fire. Then place the can over the hole of your tree at the surface of the ground. Let the top part be even with the surface, not above it. Now fill the space in the can with pure gypsum, and you have it. I desire to say that it is important to procure and use pure gypsum."

THE SENATOR.

about the election of Senator Perkins. He says that there is nothing in the law which can be construed as preventing more than one ballot being taken, and claims that the joint result of the election in separate houses today must be the announced result when both houses meet in joint assembly tomorrow. He quotes the Federal statute governing the Senatorial election which says that each house shall elect one person for Senator and that the name of the person so voted for who receives a majority of the whole number of votes cast in each house shall be duly recorded. There is nothing in this statute, he says, which could be interpreted to mean that but one ballot is to be taken.

The law further provides that when both houses shall meet in joint assembly, the journals of each shall be read, and if it is shown that the same person has received a majority of all votes in each house, he shall be declared duly elected Senator. Members who were at first inclined to believe that the Senate did not come within the law in taking a second and third ballot, are now admitting that they were laboring under a misapprehension and that all that remains to complete the election of Senator Perkins is a meeting of the two houses in joint assembly and the announcement thereof of the result.

THE DETAILED VOTE. The first ballot in detail was as follows: For Senator Perkins—Senators Aram, Beard, Dennison, Earl, Flint, Ford, Frank, Gleaves, Holloway, Hoyt, Orr, Pedlar, Shine, Shippee, Simpson, Smith, Voorhees, Withington—18.

For Mr. de Young—Senators Hart, Lindner, Mahoney, Seymour—4.

For John Daggett—Senators Aram, Dunn, Langford, Martin, Mitchell, Toner—6.

For Senator Seawell—Senators Biggy, Gefford—2.

For W. W. Foote—Senators Henderson, Mathews—2.

For B. D. Murphy—Senators Burke, Whitehurst—2.

For A. G. Booth—Senator Bert.

For John Boggs—Senator Seawell—1. Second ballot:

For Senator Perkins—Senators Aram, Beard, Dennison, Earl, Flint, Ford, Frank, Gleaves, Holloway, Hoyt, Orr, Pedlar, Shine, Shippee, Simpson, Smith, Voorhees, Withington—20.

For Mr. de Young—Senators Hart, Lindner, Mahoney, Seymour—4.

For Mr. Daggett—Senators Aram, Dunn, Langford, Mitchell, Toner—5.

For James G. Maguire—Senators Burke, Mathews—2.

For J. H. Seawell—Senator Gefford.

For B. D. Murphy—Senator Whitehurst.

For J. W. Dwyer—Senator Biggy.

For W. W. Foote—Senator Henderson.

For A. G. Booth—Senator Bert.

For John Boggs—Senator Seawell.

Senator McAllister would have voted for W. T. Jeter, paired with Senator Andrews, who would have voted for Senator Perkins.

THE ASSEMBLY VOTE. The vote in the Assembly stood: Senator Perkins, 42; Mr. de Young, 12; Congressman Bowers, 3; Mr. Foote, 7; Jacob Neff, 5; J. H. Wise, 1; O. A. Hale, 1; J. B. Stephens, 1; John H. Hageman, Jr., 1; V. C. Cator, 1; Senator Perkins had one more than was necessary for a choice.

The vote was as follows: For Senator Perkins: Ash, Belshaw

THE WORLD'S OUTLOOK.

It is marvelous what the nineteenth century has done for the world toward making swifter the march of civilization. Many are the new highways it has paved for progress. Science and modern invention have crowned it; new domains of activity have been occupied, and life has virtually broadened a hundredfold.

At the beginning of the century the Old World was thousands of miles from the new. But today it is possible for a message to be sent across the great ocean cables and the answer be received in ninety seconds, the total distance by the wires being thirteen thousand miles. This was done, it appears, in September last, when a Manchester (England) packing company had occasion to telegraph to their manager, at Victoria, British Columbia, and this marvelous feat was accomplished.

Thirteen thousand miles in a minute and a half! The mind can form no conception of such speed. It is a force which the old past never contemplated as something to be controlled by the human will, and made to do its part in the daily affairs of life. What an unfolding of possibilities does human invention bring! What a vast increase of power does it afford! Equally astounding was the dispatch and receipt of a message over the New York and London wires in five seconds, a feat accomplished in October last.

In view of such results it is idle to talk of ignorance arising from distance, or of the necessary isolation of any people, for the world has become one vast speaking gallery, where nations may have speech with nations, and the daily business of life be readily transacted, though wide seas intervene.

It was no longer ago than 1852 that Alexander Jones of New York, in his historical sketch of the electric telegraph, closed the first chapter of his interesting volume with these words: "All idea of connecting Europe with America, by lines extending directly across the Atlantic is utterly impracticable and absurd." But by way of Bering Straits the world is now practicable, and its ultimate accomplishment is only a question of time. But what do we see now? Bering Sea still rolls its icy water from shore to shore, and beneath its shallow depths no line of cable has been stretched, bearing the thoughts of the New World to the Old; but the great Atlantic Ocean and numerous other seas have yielded their beds to this modern means of communication, and, according to the last report of the International Bureau of Telegraphs, the submarine cables of the world have found their way into almost every other sea, and "touched the shores of almost every land, until, combined, they reach the vast length of one hundred and eighty-one thousand four hundred and thirteen miles."

Most materially does this affect the civilization of the world, in its business relations, in matters of state-ship, and, above all, in the enlargement and the broader capacity which it gives to the newspaper field. How much does these great cables add to the news columns of our daily journals? We can sit down in the morning and read of all the important events that transpired a few hours previous in the busy world beyond the Atlantic. In some cases the results of events occurring after midnight in Europe reach America by cable in time for use in the New York morning papers of the same morning, and even to be transmitted across the continent and published in the San Francisco and Los Angeles papers of the same morning. We can almost catch the boom of the first gun fired in any revolutionary movement, wherever occurring in any land touched by these submarine highways of human thought. No political movement of moment, no death of crowned king or potentate; no disaster of food or earthquake or pestilence, but we hear of it as if it were just across our threshold, borne to us as it is on the lightning wings of this swift messenger, which has helped to revolutionize the modern world.

But one link more and the earth will be girdled by it. The world is waiting for the transpacific cable to be laid to have the chain complete which science has been clasping about the globe. When this is done rates will be cheaper and the business affairs of the Old and New World will be in complete touch with one another. Commercial interests will more freely intermingle, more frequent partnerships with foreign capital will result, and the great seas will cease to be an obstacle in the push of human affairs that they necessarily were in the slow old past.

Barbarism and superstition are also receding rapidly before the mighty push of railroads. The railroad in China is beginning to tell against that hitherto immovable wall of prejudice, which is the creation of thirty centuries of ignorance and isolation. English mining engineers surreptitiously introduced it in connection with the working of the great coal mines in northeastern China, and as this strange thing brought with it no evidence of offended gods, railroad-building on a small scale was soon undertaken by the government under the direction of that enlightened Chinese leader of whom we have heard so much during the present war—Li Hung Chang. But only a small portion of the line which he proposed was built, for at that time the Yellow River overflowed its banks, and a terrible inundation resulted, and superstition declared that an offended heaven was punishing the people for their presumption in daring to make use of this invention of the barbarous Occident. So, in that thousands-of-years-old empire this pioneer of modern civilization has come to a halt, and there will probably be no more railroad-building in conservative China until Japan brings to Chinese ears more fully the roar of advancing civilization.

But Asia, the land of dormant barbarism, is slowly waking to the touch of occidental civilization. The Asiatic roads of the Turkish empire have been built within a few years, and their total length is now nearly one thousand miles. The railroad has thrust itself into Asia Minor, and new lines are in many parts threading the heretofore silent distances, and civilization is by these means creeping slowly toward the heart of the Orient. Even Syria and the Holy Land have trembled beneath the tread of the iron horse, and Jerusalem, that city of our dreams, has been invaded by this mailed standard-bearer of modern civilization.

The railroads of Asia are there to stay, and to be multiplied, and they are a power to arouse "the sleeping giant of orientalism," such as no other force could produce. The transiberian road is like a mighty finger tracing the way for the march of modern enlightenment and commercial growth. Other extended Asiatic roads have a like important mission, and it is by means of these that barbarism is to be pushed to its death, and the Old World is to be led to a share in the lusty and vigorous life of the Occident, with its modern thought, enterprise and invention. Already we hear the rattling of dry bones, and see the skeletons of centuries of prejudices being clothed upon with new life. Barbarism will soon hear its death-knell, and the era of universal enlightenment draws near its dawn.

American citizens have $21,700,689 invested in the Hawaiian Islands. If the recent revolt had been successful, all this property would have been confiscated or destroyed. To the Dole government, for its promptness in suppressing the rebellion, the United States owes the protection of these large interests, and of the American citizens representing them. Yet some persons maintain that there is no need for an American warship at Honolulu.

One of the deplorable features of the Brooklyn strike—of other recent labor strikes—is the participation of boys in acts of lawlessness. It is bad enough for adults to engage in turbulence, but it is infinitely worse for boys, whose characters are in the formative period, to be initiated into a bad business. Are we raising up a new generation of rioters and thugs, who know no reverence for law, and have no respect for its authorized agents? If so, the future of free government is indeed dark.

The re-election of Mr. Perkins to the United States Senate averts the danger of a legislative dead-lock, fears of which have been expressed quite freely since the Senatorial contest began. The campaign between Messrs. Perkins and De Young has been vigorously conducted on both sides, and, as a rule, by fair and open methods. Both were good men for the office, and the people of the State were certain of being well served whatever might have been the result of the contest. Senator Perkins has the advantage of experience. He will doubtless be able, during his next term, to serve the interests of California even more ably than he has served them in the past. Mr. De Young, while he has not realized his ambition to represent the State in the Senate, has still before him a wider field of usefulness and influence as the responsible head of the leading newspaper of California—a field which he has so ably occupied in the past.

Consideration of the Japanese treaty in the Senate has been deferred until Friday, as some of its present provisions are not acceptable to all of the Senators. One of these is the clause referring to immigration. Senator White has performed a service to the people of this Coast by insisting upon more stringent restrictive provisions in the treaty, relative to the immigration of Japanese to the United States. Japanese immigration, it is true, is not so objectionable as Chinese immigration; yet it should not be too liberally encouraged. We have already more laborers than there is labor to be performed, and Japan is uncomfortably handy to our back door. The necessity for more foreigners in this country, of Japanese or other nationality, is not pressingly apparent.

A new coyote bill has been introduced in the Legislature, providing for a bounty of $2, instead of $5, on coyote scalps. There is not much likelihood that this measure will pass. A $2 bounty on coyote scalps would be scarcely less pernicious than a $5 bounty. It would simply be a reduction in the amount of the steal. So far as can be ascertained, the sentiment in the Legislature is practically unanimous in favor of the unconditional repeal of the coyote bounty act. Public sentiment runs unmistakably on the same lines, and the Legislature can perform no more acceptable service than to repeal the present obnoxious law at once, and vote down the proposed $2 steal.

An Oakland hebdomadary publication slobbers all over Jimmy Budd, in the following exuberant language: "Gov. James H. Budd is showing that he is constituted of the stuff of which Washingtons are made. It is easy to suppose that before he has been chief ruler of California for a year his name will be as familiar in American households as is Horatio Seymour or James A. Garfield's. As arch-magistrate of a commonwealth of fifty-seven provinces, he has already displayed qualities that a Caesar, Napoleon or a Cromwell alone could enjoy. It is in the mind of hundreds today that Gov. James H. Budd of California is apt to be a national candidate of his party next year."

If this isn't a clear case of thrusting greatness upon Governor Jimmy, what is it?

The Chicago Inter Ocean looks at the matter in this wise: "Democrats, having turned loose a whole menagerie of wild animals, are now whining and begging Republicans to help them catch and cage the varmints before they do any more damage. They are so busy trying to turn loose others that they really are plucked for time, which is now short." After the 4th of March a whole lot of "varmints" will be turned loose from the halls of Congress. They will never be caged in the national Capitol building again; but these "varmints" will not be nearly so great a menace to the country, after they are at large, as they have been in the halls of Congress.

There can be but one ending to the disorder in Brooklyn, incidental to the street-car strike. It will be suppressed by military force. The mob will be put down. Peace will be restored. Law will be made triumphant. It must be so, else law is a farce, government a mockery, civilization a failure. Whether the strikers' demands are right or wrong has ceased to be a relevant question in the present emergency. Peace and good order must precede any attempt to arbitrate or otherwise adjust the questions at issue in the original controversy. Down with the mob!

The Chicago Inter Ocean declares that, if the Nicaragua Canal is to be built, a cable to Hawaii will be laid in due time, and that "it will be a commercial cable, and will be owned, as all cables in the Pacific Ocean south of the line of British America should be, mainly by citizens of the United States." This view of the matter appears to be quite general in Congress. The scheme for the landing of the proposed British cable on Neckar Island has not excited unbounded enthusiasm in this country up to present writing.

If the income tax is a righteous measure, the money necessary to carry out its provisions should be appropriated. If it is not a righteous law, it should be repealed. To seek to render the law inoperative by withholding the necessary appropriation is a cowardly makeshift, of which even Democratic Senators and Representatives should be heartily ashamed.

A bill is to be introduced in the Massachusetts Legislature empowering theatrical managers to exclude from their places of entertainment women who insist upon wearing large hats during a performance. The nuisance is one which calls loudly for abatement, not alone in Massachusetts, but throughout the country. If it can be abated in no other way than by statute, let the necessary legislation be forthcoming.

Five American diplomats, representing the United States abroad, threaten to strike for an advance of salary, though they are now receiving $17,500 each per annum. As is the case with some other strikers, they appear not to know when they are well off. Their places can be filled just as acceptably as now, for less money. Let the strike go on.

The Dallas News insists that Congress should not adjourn "until it has made an appropriation for deepening Salt River." Such an appropriation, should especially commend itself to the statesmen of the Fifty-third Congress, for they will soon be forced to navigate the waters of this saline water-course en masse.

Among the bills recently introduced at Sacramento is one to abolish the offices of attorney for the State Board of Health and attorney for the San Francisco Board of Health. Both of these offices seem to be superfluous, or virtually so. Their abolition offers a good field for retrenchment.

That was a magnificent tribute to Senator McMillan when the Michigan Legislature re-elected him to the United States Senate by a unanimous vote, even the one Democrat in the Legislature voting with the Republicans. This is said to be the only case of the kind on record.

After about five weeks more of pottering, the Democratic majority in Congress will march forth. See?

The maudlin sympathy wasted upon law-breakers does much to encourage crime.

AT THE PLAYHOUSES.

LOS ANGELES THEATRE.—Verdi's masterpiece, "Il Trovatore," drew a crowded house to the Los Angeles Theatre last evening, as the second production of the Marie Tavy Opera Company. There were many who were doubtful as to the handling of the work, and the audience was at first inclined to be cold and unsympathetic. Every strain of "Il Trovatore" is so closely associated with the great singers of the past and present that a critical and unimpaired presentation in any way mediocre, or in part of the middle of the second act, however, they awake to the fact that there was little fault to find, and after that curtain calls and encores were frequent.

Helen von Doenhoff gave an excellent rendering of Azucena, the gypsy. While her voice is hardly equal to all of the music, she holds the audience by her acting, and was repeatedly called to the front. Payne Clarke as Manrico gives the character a faithful rendering. The famous aria in the third act was beautifully waited for, and was given so well as to leave no doubt of his ability.

Today's bill will be "The Bohemian Girl" at the matinee and "Cavalleria Rusticana" and "I Pagliacci" in the evening.

This is the most brilliant cast of the week. These two great operatic novelties have been sung with phenomenal success by Mme. Tavy, Gullie, Theo Doree, Pache, Schuster, the basso cantata, and Mertens, the baritone. So great was the success of these two operas in San Francisco that an extra matinee was given to a packed house. That music lovers will make advantage of the opportunity to hear these operas sung by so many grand artists goes without saying.

BURBANK THEATRE.—This theatre will be reopened tonight with Jeffery Lewis in "East Lynne." Holders of tickets for Tuesday evening can have their money refunded or their tickets exchanged for any other evening by applying at the box office.

SMILES.

"Madam," said the old rooster to the hen that was making an attempt to crow, "you seem to be trying to unken yourself."

The Ox. I see you're getting down to your proper level. They tell you by the pound now, same as they do the rest of us.

The Horse. That's all right; they don't work me up into inhibition butter, and that's more than you can say.

Host. Walk right in, stranger, and make yourself at home.

Visitor. All come in, but I can't make myself at home, you know. Your blasted house isn't fitted up to suit me.

(New York Press.) "Courtship is one of the greatest pleasures of the human mind." "Yes," he replied, "it is a great pleasure, but when a gentleman goes courting the lady expects he means business, all the same."

(Cincinnati Tribune.) "I think I have it this time," said the inventor. "Tell us all about it," said the capitalist, who was willing to listen on the grounds of friendship. "It's a folding bed that can be a coffin in case it shuts up and smother a man to death."

(San Diego Union.) It is pleasing to note the advancement of a newspaper man, but the selection of John Bradbury as a member of the staff of Gov. Budd is certainly unexpected. Mr. Bradbury, though the owner of the Los Angeles Herald, a Democratic paper, is an unyielding Republican, hence the compliment paid to him must have been either on personal grounds or on account of the mere fact of his ownership of the Herald. As he is yet a young man, one who has the responsibilities of life have not weighed heavily, and whose interest in politics or active business of any sort is of recent development, the likelihood of any personal regard which could explain the appointment is quite improbable. Then it appears that he owes his preferment solely to the purchase of the Herald. The possession of cash goes about as far in California as in any State in the country.

Gossip Concerning the Peace Negotiations and Their Important Mission.
Condition of the Japanese Army in the Field—Chinese Mobs and Dead Men—A Cablegram from Carpenter.

Associated Press Special—Tokyo, Jan. 23.

A few days later a similar uprising in the same city was caused by the announcement that Commodore Liu, late commander of the Chen-Yuen, would be promoted to the rank of admiral. Liu had committed suicide immediately after the disabling of his ship at Wei-Hai-Wei, and it was popularly believed that he had intentionally run her upon a rock known to every navigator and easily avoided. Though formerly idolized by his townsmen of Foo-Chow, his remains were followed to the grave by a shrieking mob, and would have suffered the worst indignities if the local officials, warned by the tumult at Pong's obsequies, had not taken due precautions against extreme violence. Contradictory decrees from the Chinese Emperor follow one another in swift succession. On December 22 the order commanding the generals who lost Port Arthur to the severest punishment was rescinded and the relieved officers were simply deprived of rank and titles and sent to serve under Sun-Yuan, the new leader of the army near New-Chang. By way of inspiring them with the true martial spirit, Sung is commanded to behead them at once without further reference to the case they are "so lost to the feeling of shame as to exhibit cowardice in the future." The sentence against Admiral Ting, as previously ascertained by a special edict, the imperial wrath is little to be dreaded in these days of uncertainty and vacillation.

Foreign newspapers of Shanghai contain further translations of the alleged imperial rescript, in which the Emperor says: "The Japanese have gained victory after victory and despoiled our territory until our ancestors in their sacred shrines are disturbed. This is because we who rule the empire are unworthy and deficient in virtue and have intrusted the defense of the State to unworthy men. It is our duty to suffer the worst evils, and to witness the defilement and destruction of the revered altars, there remains nothing but for us to perish with them. When the time comes may you (Wang, Li-Tao and Wen Shih) reverently lead the Empress Dowager to the west and provide for a worthy succession to the throne which we shall no longer fill. Let the sacred shrines of our ancestors be purified and the disgrace of the nation be wiped away."

It is rumored that this edict was privately circulated in the palace at the beginning of December last, and has become known to the outer world through treachery. But the genuineness of the remarkable document is said to need further attestation.

The ransom paid for the release of Madame Chaillet and her daughter from Chinese pirates was about $90,000.

A CABLEGRAM FROM CARPENTER. A Washington, Jan. 23.—Secretary of the Navy has received the following cablegram from Admiral Carpenter, dated Chefoo, January 21: "The army has landed on the Shanghai peninsula of China under cover of the Japanese fleet. The Baltimore leaves Chefoo for Chefoo." This places the Japanese forces between Peking and the fortress of Wei-Hai-Wei.

SMALL BUT COMPLICATED.

(From Our Regular New York Fashion Correspondent.)

Theater bonnets have grown less and less as sleeves became bigger, and both processes have gone on to the point where whether further progress is about impossible. But the smallness of the theater hats doesn't prevent their being odd of construction. Thus a bonnet made of a half moon of certain velvet edged with jet beads and with a big rhinestone button set in each horn. This is worn flat on the head, the horns curving to the front and well down the sides of the head. At the bow of ribbon rests, the loops and ends being sprawled about the top of the head in any way that seems quaint and becoming. The hair parts in the center and is held down by rhinestone side combs that seem to be part of the glitter of the bonnet. A coronet of green paste is set upon just back of the bow and the whole is one of the very newest and most stylish.

At the lower left hand corner of today's picture there appears a tasteful theater bonnet of the sort that comes down over the head like a cap. It is made of black velvet spangled and embroidered with jet and its edge is bordered with a pink velvet puffing. The same shade of velvet ribbon is used for the crown and the wings ornament the front. Above this in the same picture there is a walking hat of black velvet, shaped with a low crown and a turned-up brim. Its garniture consists of wide violet and ruby mirror velvet ribbon, which encircles the crown and forms a large two-looped bow in back. Besides this, two ostrich plumes appear on each side, and a large jet bow is given the major portion of the third picture bit of jewelry, a jet crown being added with jet embroidery between the puffs. At the left side three shaded cymathemes are placed. A spangled aigrette in the center of the crown.

FLORETTE.

THE BAGING COLORADO.

YUMA, Jan. 19.—(Special Correspondence.) The Colorado River is a raging torrent. The dam at Oila Bend went out at 4 o'clock p.m. on the 18th inst. We expect twelve feet of water tonight. If the Colorado River does not go down before the Oila water reaches here, a repetition of 1891 is expected. Excitement runs high. This rush of water will test the government levee. The Electric Light Company worked all night, jacking their plant. The Southern Pacific bridge, putting in the new draw, are making a desperate effort to save the false work in place in the river. A continual stream of rafted material is coming down the river. The Oila River, at Yuma, forty miles east, is rising at the rate of three inches per hour.

hely given for abandoning it is the alleged depletion of the treasury. Apart from this it is known that great discontent was excited in high military quarters by the proposal to confer the chief command on a foreigner, and that threats of mutiny were growing so loud and frequent as to throw the court into consternation. Hence the overthrow of the project.

CHINESE DISTURBANCES.
A serious disturbance occurred at Foo-Chow, last month, when an attempt was made to bury the remains of Capt. Fong, beheaded for cowardice at the single naval battle of the war, with further references to the court into consternation. Hence the overthrow of the project.

The hair parts in the center and is held down by rhinestone side combs that seem to be part of the glitter of the bonnet. A coronet of green paste is set upon just back of the bow and the whole is one of the very newest and most stylish.

At the lower left hand corner of today's picture there appears a tasteful theater bonnet of the sort that comes down over the head like a cap. It is made of black velvet spangled and embroidered with jet and its edge is bordered with a pink velvet puffing. The same shade of velvet ribbon is used for the crown and the wings ornament the front. Above this in the same picture there is a walking hat of black velvet, shaped with a low crown and a turned-up brim. Its garniture consists of wide violet and ruby mirror velvet ribbon, which encircles the crown and forms a large two-looped bow in back. Besides this, two ostrich plumes appear on each side, and a large jet bow is given the major portion of the third picture bit of jewelry, a jet crown being added with jet embroidery between the puffs. At the left side three shaded cymathemes are placed. A spangled aigrette in the center of the crown.

FLORETTE.

THE BAGING COLORADO.

YUMA, Jan. 19.—(Special Correspondence.) The Colorado River is a raging torrent. The dam at Oila Bend went out at 4 o'clock p.m. on the 18th inst. We expect twelve feet of water tonight. If the Colorado River does not go down before the Oila water reaches here, a repetition of 1891 is expected. Excitement runs high. This rush of water will test the government levee. The Electric Light Company worked all night, jacking their plant. The Southern Pacific bridge, putting in the new draw, are making a desperate effort to save the false work in place in the river. A continual stream of rafted material is coming down the river. The Oila River, at Yuma, forty miles east, is rising at the rate of three inches per hour.

TO KEEP COLLARS FROM WILLING.

(From Our Regular New York Fashion Correspondent.)
The very narrow band of fur about the neck now appears upon all sorts of gowns. Sable only a half inch wide is much used, or a single little ermine skin is backed with satin and bound about the throat, no matter how high the stock collar may be. The fur fastens invisibly with hook and eye. The finish thus given is always becoming, besides we all know that the highest collar will wilt down in front and the fur provides against this. The too, the habit is a much less pernicious one than that of the feather or fur bos. In the gown pictured here the collar is of the dress goods, machine stitched and thus made to match the sleeve cuffs and the hem. The dress is of a plainness, rich garniture is not lacking and comes in the embroidered velvet of the lower part of the bodice and in the tabs to match that show upon the front of the skirt. The latter is very full. Above this comes a brown hat trimmed with rich brown plumes. Hat brims are much given to thus turning coquettishly from the face. Nearly every hat is a picture hat these days, and frequently the headgear owes its stylish effect rather to some happy and picturesque turn given to the brim than to any special elegance or detail of the hat itself. But to comprehend the essence of oddity, consider the later hats. Examples will be found that consist of oblong pieces of stiffened lace laid flat on the head, the length being from side to side. An upright design of the "sunburst" order rises right in front, and to each of the snugly pushed down ends of the bonnet a big The Times is attached to the hair and really make the most conspicuous part of the head-dress. The average theater bonnet is a collection of ruffles and ornaments that are attached to the different corners of an entirely inconspicuous foundation. Cerise is the color of the hour.

FLORETTE.

After Malony's Gore.

(Pasadena News.) Our esteemed contemporary, The Times, in its issue of yesterday shows a cartoon with Gov. Budd as an executioner taking the head of the police commissioners, with the query, "who next?" If the ax must drop, in the name of St. Patrick, the patron of the politician, let it fall on "Scondra" Malony; off with his head, brogue and all!

"One of the Best."

(Pasadena News.) The Annual Trade Number of the Los Angeles Times is at hand. It contains thirty-six pages and is one of the best numbers of any newspaper ever issued on the Coast. The Times is truly metropolitan and fit to represent California's most enterprising and delightful city.

RAILROAD RECORD. NOT AN EASY STREET

Trains are Moving, but the Officials are Uneasy.

There is Just a Chance for More Rain in the Near Future in This Locality.

The Snow Blockade on the A. and P. in Arizona Broken—The Union Pacific's Memorial to Congress.

Railroad officials in the city were congratulating themselves on their troubles being over yesterday, but they were not so sure of it, for what the next few days may bring forth. There appears to be rain hovering around, and those are not lacking who prophesy another downfall. Be that as it may the Southern Pacific lines are open and trains are running on time with one somewhat insignificant exception. The small branch line to Tustin, on the Santa Ana line, was closed yesterday, but it will again be open today. The west-bound overland was about an hour late, but the locals all ran on schedule time.

The local lines of the Southern California were all open yesterday, albeit trains arrived some what owing to their having to "slow down" in going over weak places. The blockade on the Atlantic and Pacific, between Williams and Winslow, where Sunday's overland got stalled, has been broken, but it is quite probable that further delay may be encountered in that region, where the snow has been very heavy.

UNION PACIFIC MEMORIAL.
A memorial of the Union Pacific Company, prepared under the supervision of the receivers, and approved by the Reorganization Committee, is to be presented to Congress, and received by the president in Washington, at present with that purpose in view. The gist of the memorial is that stockholders be assessed a sufficient sum to pay all bonds which have priority over the lien of the United States, in consideration of the extension of the government debt for fifty years at 2 per cent.

Approximately stated, the company's indebtedness, computed to July 1, 1894 by the Reilly Funding Bill, now pending, is about $70,000,000, of which $33,539,512 represents the principal of the bonds owned to the United States. Other bonds representing a like principal of $33,539,500 are also about to mature. The bonds are secured by mortgage prior to the lien of the United States. Reference is made in the memorial to the extraordinary reduction in the earning capacity of the Union Pacific, and says there are no indications of improvement in the business or the earnings of the road. In consequence of the inability to meet interest or the prior liens, suits of foreclosure are about to be instituted. The petitioners allege that it is the imperative duty of Congress to determine whether the indebtedness to the government shall be protected by a purchase of the railroad in its behalf or by adjustment with the holders of the securities based on measures securing the ultimate payment of the debt to the United States. The par value of the securities and money held in the United States sinking fund for account of the Union Pacific Railroad, as on December 1, 1894, was $1,311,157. The cash to meet the requirements of the Reilly bill would represent an assessment exceeding 30 per cent. It is claimed that it will be impossible to obtain the large sum required from the stockholders unless it is possible to offer them in satisfaction of this assessment reasonable security for the money advanced.

The memorial asks for the amendment of the Reilly bill in the following particulars:

- "1. Reduce the interest on the bonds to be issued to the government to 2 per cent.; make the bonds payable in fifty years, to be secured by the mortgage on 1832 miles of road, the rest of the road to be subject to the liens and mortgages which now cover it.
- "2. Grant power to foreclose the 1832 miles now under government control, and permit foreclosure purchase and a successor company under the original Union Pacific act.
- "3. Strike out the exceptional restrictions on usual corporate powers and rights imposed by the Reilly bill, and give the successor corporation the same rights, privileges and freedom of action that are exercised by United States railroads. It is pointed out that the company is bound for bonds on lines not covered by the government lien amounting to $27,933,875. It will be impossible to obtain benefits resulting from maintaining the integrity of the system without adjustment of the government debt. Unless prompt action is taken, the system will be dismembered with disastrous effect upon the industries of the company and the government lien. It is, therefore, essential that these amendments should be conceded and early action taken."

MISSOURI ROADS RECLASSIFIED.

The Board of Railway Commissioners of Missouri has just reclassified the railroads of the State. Under class A the roads can only charge 3 cents per mile passenger fare, whereas the rate heretofore has been 4 cents per mile. The railway companies will have to revise their passenger rate schedules according to the new classification.

SAN DIEGO RAILROAD MATTERS.

SAN DIEGO, Jan. 22.—(Special Correspondence.) A local paper expresses gratification that The Times has experienced a change of heart concerning the San Diego, Pacific and Eastern Railroad. The editor of that paper appears to have reached the news. The Times exposed a fake railroad scheme called the San Diego Pacific Railroad, which was promoted by men of unsavory business reputation. The prospectus of this railroad scheme was unsavory by the job office of the local paper in question. This prospectus set forth absurd, alluring plans whereby the railway employees of the country were to be paid 50 cents monthly and thus help pay for the construction of a transcontinental railroad. The names of reputable citizens in this city were used by the promoters of the fake scheme in the prospectus without authorization. On its face the prospectus was a false pretense, and The Times exposed it thoroughly from the Pacific to the Atlantic Ocean. The San Diego Chamber of Commerce repudiated the scheme by the action of the board of directors in refusing to allow the railroad promoters to use the name of the chamber as a reference for this false proposition. Windy orators mouthed away at the public meetings, and the secretary of the chamber aroused indignation by recognizing a project which his superior repudiated. The day after its exposure in The Times, failed to work. As stated, it was a false pretense, according to the prospectus. Consequently the articles of incorporation of the fake outfit were withdrawn from the County Clerk's office. The chief promoter of the fake scheme stepped down and out. Respectable citizens became interested in a railroad scheme toward Utah, and organized an entirely new company called the San Diego, Pacific and Eastern, the purpose of which is, instead of building a railroad to Chicago, New York or Labrador, is to build 100 miles north and east from San Diego, do a real estate business, build and operate telephones, telegraph and steamship lines. The Times printed the prospectus of this railroad January 15, under the heading "It Looks Well." And the local paper which imagines that The Times has experienced any change of heart toward an indefensible fake scheme which unsavory schemers tried to foist upon the public at the expense of San Diego's fair name, is evidently "talking through his hat," and if its editor will read the San Diego correspondence in The Times from the beginning to the end, concerning these railroad schemes, he will get the news of what is going on here, and doubtless will not place himself in the ludicrous position of again confounding the San Diego, Pacific and Eastern Railroad with that base, fake scheme which gave the critical editor some job printing, called the San Diego Pacific Railroad.

According to the prospectus of the San Diego, Pacific and Eastern road, published exclusively in The Times January 15, its scope of intentions is vast. The idea is to leave, in addition to the other businesses, two termini in this city. Secretary Young of the Chamber of Commerce said recently that the idea was entertained of possibly securing the San Diego, Cuernavaca and Eastern road, now operated twenty-six miles from this city to Foster's, and extend it seventy-four miles to the point desired, north and east of San Diego.

CUT EXPENSES.
OMAHA (Neb.) Jan. 22.—The Union Pacific management, by yesterday's reduction, cut expenses $30,000 monthly, and the executive officers are now on the road to make further reductions. The condition of affairs on the Union Pacific is not so bright as it appears, according to officials, by the complete collapse of business. Coal is the only commodity moving, and the weather has been decidedly against even this article of fuel. The only hope of increased traffic in the near future is from the orange output. The California orange crop this year amounts to some six thousand cars, which is divided up with the Santa Fe, Southern Pacific and Union Pacific. Coming, as it does, in small lots of a few cars at a time, it never constitutes a business. Oranges will be in moving about February 1, and until that time the extra train crew kept on for service will be kept reporting for duty until the orange crop begins to move. With the orange output out of the way and the coal haul gradually letting up as spring approaches, there seems to be nothing in sight for the Union Pacific until another crop is harvested, which will give something of an idea of the travel through which the "overland" has yet to pass over the return to more prosperous times.

THE SAN JOAQUIN VALLEY ROAD.
SAN FRANCISCO, Jan. 22.—A meeting of real estate owners and the Executive Committee of the San Joaquin Valley road was held here today, with favorable results. Many wealthy citizens were present and all expressed themselves as favorable to the scheme. Subscriptions were called for, and Claus Spreckels headed the list, with $50,000, paying the full amount of 5000 were subscribed.

Other subscriptions were as follows: Thomas Brown and George K. Fitch, $5000 each; Behrman of Antioch, $3000; Isaac Upham, Robert W. Jones, Madison O. D. Baldwin and J. W. Morrissey, $2000 each; J. F. English and C. A. Clinton, $1000; Thomas Sweeney, $500. Other small subscriptions were made, and a committee of twelve was appointed to solicit subscriptions from property-owners of the city.

CHANGES ON THE SANTA FE.

CHICAGO, Jan. 22.—Several important changes were made today in the passenger department of the Atchison road. The position of assistant passenger traffic manager, heretofore held by John J. Byrne, was abolished and Mr. Byrne has been appointed general passenger agent of the Atlantic and Pacific and also of the Southern California Railroad. His headquarters will be in Los Angeles. H. G. Thompson, who has heretofore been with the Southern California road, has been appointed assistant to Passenger Traffic Manager White and will be removed to Chicago. George T. Nicholson will act as general passenger agent of the Atchison system and will have his headquarters in Chicago. All changes will be effective February 1.

The meeting of the western lines was again adjourned today because of the failure of General Passenger Agent Lomax of the Union Pacific to come from New York.

BEAN THE BURGLAR.

The Recipient of Much Sympathy—A Peculiar Case.

Another of the strange freaks of Christian charity verging into mania and mental insanity, is about to be witnessed. The young Englishman, William Bean, who was shot by Detective Walter Auble as he was trying to escape legal arrest, while regarded by the professional criminal detectives as a dangerous crook, who operates upon his church record to gain confidences and learn combinations, is already taken up by the good people of the city, and who have known Bean for some time, have raised a purse of $500 to get him out of the toils of the law. He has plainly broken, and have retained a lawyer to further the defense of order and the peace. M. E. C. Munday, Esq., is authority for the above statement, and he is the lawyer who has been retained to "save the poor man from his cruel enemies." The man who "was driven by hard circumstances to commit crime in order to live," when he went directly from some kind people who had given him money for supper and bed, and the promise of help if he would come back in the morning, to rob the little store on Temple street that he supposed contained a quantity of money.

A Times reporter had a casual chat with the fellow early in the day before the Chief's order of strict quiet was given, not knowing of the arrangement made, and he asked him what he was doing. He had a pretty bad wound. "Well, he wouldn't have got me if he hadn't shot me, because I was getting fast away from him."

been published; what he did before that is as yet unknown.

Mr. Munday was around the station at intervals all afternoon trying to see Bean in the receiving hospital as his attorney authorized by his friends, but Police Surgeon Bryant advised Chief Glass that any further irritation might cause Bean's death from hemorrhages of his wounded lung, so the Chief had ordered that no one be allowed to see him.

Mr. Munday was very indignant and denounced this procedure as outrageous and unlawful. He said they were trying to "whitewash" Auble, and were not giving Bean a show. He went to Chief Glass, Capt. Roberts, Desk Sergeant Henaley and Police Surgeon Bryant and made his "formal demand, sir, legally" on all of them for an interview with Bean, but Dr. Bryant told him it was impossible.

Half the force was soon aware of the matter, and much indignation was expressed at the movement against Auble. "Why," protested an officer of rank, "what if the fellow had turned around and shot Walter through the heart, what would they have done then? Said 'Poor Auble, he died in the discharge of his duty,' and would have taken flowers and fruit to the murderer and would have probably indulged in as much drivel as they did over Vasquez in '74. When I see a man doing an act of burglary and he does not stop when I order him to three times and three shots are fired over his head, I am going to shoot to kill. You don't suppose Auble was a burglar, do you? Of course, not; he was simply doing his duty in apprehending a criminal as his orders are, and that's why he carries that revolver and uses as a last resort. Burglars know that and go prepared to kill and be killed. But you never hear of any 'movement' when a criminal kills an officer, as is being done almost every day. How did Auble know what kind of a man he had to deal with? If the fellow had got away, he would have been condemned and ridiculed by the very people who now censure him." Chief Glass stated that he had given orders that no one was to see Bean because Dr. Bryant had advised him it would place the man's life in jeopardy. "I want that man to live," said he, "for every reason. I have ordered the best of food and care for him and nothing will be spared to save his life. But any excitement would create a hemorrhage. I am told, and I decline to risk his life by moving him, or allowing other unnecessary action. There is nothing in that order but the desire to save Bean's life."

The Taber Affray.

A correspondent writes The Times today that the Taber stabbing affray did not take place in Downey, but east of the new San Gabriel river, and much nearer Norwalk than that place.

THE PUBLIC SERVICE.

Weekly Meeting of the Police Commissioners.

A Large Amount of Saloon Business Is Presented to the Board.

Healey, the Second of the Elkan Murders, Convicted and Feeler Formally Sentenced—General Court Notes.

The Police Commission yesterday acted on a number of important saloon matters, but postponed for one week all action in the way of appointments. A few of the Councilmen were about the City Hall during the day, but they did not appear to be much pressed with committee work as they had been during the past week.

At the Courthouse interest centered in Department One, where the trial of Healey, the second of the Elkan murderers, was in progress, and which resulted in his conviction. Sentence was also passed on Feeler, who had been previously convicted.

AT THE CITY HALL.

The Police Commission. NUMEROUS SALOON MATTERS BEFORE THE BOARD.

The members of the Police Commission met in the Mayor's private office for about twenty minutes yesterday morning before the regular meeting of the commission. Mr. Bostwick acted as secretary in place of Mayor's Clerk Parker, the latter being kept away by the illness of his wife.

The matter of the application of Mark-walker & Althouse for a transfer of saloon license at No. 166 North Main street from Althouse & Rothman, as laid over from last week, was taken up. Mr. Mark-walker was heard. He stated that reference to the report of the place recently presented that he had always been opposed to keeping open on Sunday. If the license were to be granted the place would not be kept open on Sunday. The application was granted.

On motion the application was granted. The application of C. J. R. Carson for appointment as special policeman for service at the Burbank Theater and at George B. Whitely's place at the Orpheum were both reported on favorably by the Chief and were granted.

Henry Booth, who had been cited to appear and show cause why his saloon at No. 1100 North Main street should not be revoked because unpaid up to the 10th of the month, was heard. He stated the matter was due to his own carelessness and said he would not permit it to occur again. He was pardoned with a caution to pay more promptly in future or his saloon would be revoked without giving him further hearing.

In the matter of the citation of Ernest Koenig to appear and show cause why his license for the saloon at No. 1485 Mission Road, should not be revoked, for having remained unpaid up to the 10th of the month, Mr. Koenig did not appear in person. A collector for the Mayor & Eberlein's Brewery was present, however, and stated that Mr. Koenig had handed him the amount of the license for the month, but had forgotten to take it to the City Tax and License Collector. He had carried it for three or four days.

The Chief reported on the application of Charles F. Kuhl for a saloon license at No. 418 South Main street, and Mr. Krimminger was heard in behalf of the signers of a protest against the granting of a saloon license at that place. He explained that the location is on the east side of South Main street between Fourth and Winston streets. There is at present a saloon on the back corner of that side of Main street, within the block, and it was urged the establishment of a saloon, where there are others so near by is not a necessary for the refreshment of the thirsty public.

Commissioner Barham moved that the license be granted, but there was no second to the motion.

Commissioner Pirtle moved that the application be denied and Commissioner Field seconded the motion, which was carried. In the case of the ordinance over the question that was brought out that J. B. Lankershim had signed consent for a large proportion of the frontage in the block, and Commissioner Pirtle for J. W. Hellman had signed for another large amount of frontage. Commissioner Pirtle said he thought it would be establishing a bad precedent to allow any property-owner to sign as agent unless the agent showed authority for such signing.

The application of Heas & Sadovsky for a saloon license at the northwest corner of Main and Commercial streets was reported on by the Chief through Secretary Moffatt, the report stating that there had been filed numerous signed protests against the granting of a license for a saloon in the neighborhood. The application was denied.

The Chief also reported on the application of R. W. Morrison for a restaurant liquor license at No. 105 North Los Angeles street. The report stated that the number asked for was in reality not No. 105 but No. 103, which number is the back entrance of the saloon situated on the northwest corner of First street. The report further stated that the basis of the license was asked in a room in the rear of the saloon, where liquors sold in the bar-room are taken and drunk with edibles. The place was not, however, fitted up for a restaurant and it was thought the granting of the license would have the effect of keeping it open nights and Sundays when the ordinances require saloons to be closed. The saloon had been reported to be disorderly.

On motion, the petition for the restaurant liquor license at that place was denied.

The application of W. W. Eggert, for a transfer of saloon license at No. 143 Los Angeles street, from Arbuckle & Eggert, was granted.

A transfer of a restaurant liquor license at No. 248 South Broadway, from Charles Eaton, was granted to H. L. Miller. A restaurant liquor license was granted to Leopold Massey, at No. 254 East First street.

The petition of ex-Councilman Hugh J. Smith, for a transfer of saloon license at the northeast corner of First and Los Angeles streets, from John Hamilton, was granted. It is the license that Mr. Smith had transferred from himself soon after he was elected Councilman, he "invoicing" the stock to Mr. Hamilton at the time, so that he would not be a member of the Council and a saloon-keeper, both at once.

The petition of E. L. Steppler, for a transfer of saloon license at No. 110 North Alameda street, from Christian Rothman, was granted.

William Doehrer was, upon his own request, given permission to withdraw his application for a restaurant liquor license at the northwest corner of First and Los Angeles streets. It was stated that a protest, containing a very large number of signatures had been presented against the granting of such license. Commissioner Field said he believed that licenses ought not to be issued for residence locations.

Among the new applications presented for licenses was one from Jack Marshall, for a saloon at No. 2123 East First street. It will be remembered that this location is on Doyle Heights, where the people residing in the neighborhood have, on previous occasions, made such strong protest against having any saloon permitted in their midst. The petition was referred to the Chief.

The other new applications presented and referred to the Chief, were as follows: Berger & Morel, for a restaurant liquor license at the United States Hotel; Carl Richardson, for a transfer license at No. 301 North Main street, from Peter Toomes; Henry Koch, for a saloon license at No. 3201 South Main street; Fred Art, bogart, for a saloon license at No. 510 Commercial street; Joseph Vogel, for a saloon license at No. 337 Commercial street; W. S. Barber, for a transfer of saloon license at No. 113 East First street, from Casters & Son to Casters & Co.

The license for M. Lehman, for the location of what used to be the Imperial Theater, was revoked, he being out of business.

The committee to which was referred the petition from residents of the southwestern portion of the city, asking the establishment of a branch police station in that neighborhood, reported, recommending that the location be near Main and Washington streets. The recommendation was approved and ordered forwarded to the City Council.

Commissioner Pirtle reported in the matter of the bill for gas for the City Hall building for December, amounting to $113. He said the bill was considerably in excess of what could have been used from the burners in the building but thought there was probably no way the city could escape from having to pay the full amount of it. He recommended that the city purchase a meter and connect it with the pipes in the building and keep it locked. There would then be an opportunity to know how much gas was being used. The demands were approved, and then the question of filling the vacancies of which there were only one or two in the force, was raised. On motion, however, it was decided to postpone action in the matter for one week.

In accordance with the suggestion of the Mayor in his first message to the City Council, police officers were instructed to report on the condition of the various electric street lights on their several beats respectively.

An application of J. B. Liversidge for appointment as special policeman was referred to the Chief.

Application for appointments on the regular police force were filed as received from Robert Shuttleworth, E. V. Cicotte, Frank A. Mitchell, George E. Loomis, G. L. Story, George F. McCullough, Henry B. Hunt, W. D. Shaver, Edward Wright, F. P. Cochran, Henry Scholke, Charles S. Boyd, J. R. Purvis, Henry W. Peterson.

The election of police officers to all vacancies existing in the force was without discussion postponed for one week.

City Datum Plane. THE RECOMMENDATION TO CHANGE IT TO SEA LEVEL.

The recommendation of City Engineer Compton, in his report presented to the City Council Monday, that the city datum plane be changed to an elevation 253 feet lower than at present has revived the story of how the datum plane came to be established where it is not.

It seems that sometime back in the 50's Frank Lecroquer was employed to do some surveying for the city. In connection with the survey there was a clerical error, work to do and to start with he recorded the elevation—that is the relative height or depth as compared with other points—of what is now the intersection of Sixth and Spring streets as 253 feet below datum plane. The error was not detected until after the survey was completed and the datum plane was established at that point.

For many years there was little difficulty arising from having the datum plane at that elevation, as the city was almost entirely built on level ground. The ground was at that level and where all elevations were recorded as "plus" the city extended to the south and the datum plane was not a problem. However, to record many of the elevations as "minus," which fact tended to confuse computations, as will be remembered, in adding minus quantities they really have to be subtracted and vice versa.

In order to avoid confusion it became the custom in recording elevations to do so on a basis of sea level, which is 253 feet below the datum plane. The city datum plane was now intended to be accomplished in two ways. The first was to change the datum plane to sea level, which would be necessary in drawing ordinances establishing the grades of streets or in preparing plans for sewer work.

The official datum plane, it will be understood, is used as a basis in ordinances establishing the grades of streets. An ordinance of this character will, for instance, say the grade of the street at a certain point shall be such as to give the city datum plane at another point so and so on. Plans for sewer work are prepared in somewhat the same manner.

High School Heating and Ventilating.

A test of the heating and ventilating apparatus recently installed in the High School has been made in most of the rooms of that building with the instrument borrowed for that purpose from one of the State institutions. The trial has not resulted satisfactorily and another series of tests is to be made. The exhaust fan appears to draw scarcely any of the foul air from the rooms as it is intended to do. Further tests will probably determine whether the apparatus complies with the contract.

Memorial to Superintendent Friesner.

A memorial service in respect to the memory of W. M. Friesner, late Superintendent of City Schools, will be held in Music Hall tomorrow evening. It is designed that the exercises, together with other matter from his writings and the tributes of friends of the school system, be memorial volume to be issued by the teachers of the city schools.

Fire Department.

The Fire Commission will meet this morning to consider the election of an electrician of the fire alarm system. There is little but routine business before the board. It appears to be the understanding there will be a considerable reorganization of the department, but how soon this will be begun remains to be seen.

City Hall Notes.

Building Superintendent Strange is investigating a number of cases of parties who have started the erection of buildings without first taking out permits from his office, as required by ordinance.

Plumbing Inspector Cusick wishes to urge people having plumbing done to see to it that before they pay the plumber in each case the latter show a certificate that the work has been inspected and accepted. The City Council, which is to adjourn this afternoon, at which it is expected the matter of bonds for school purposes will be considered.

E. J. Mitchell, an agent for the Fire Extinguisher Manufacturing Company, has filed a notice to the city authorities to pay the $5240 due for chemical and hose wagons to that company and not to H. J. Hart & Bro., which latter firm acted as agent for the former in the sale of such engines.

AT THE COURTHOUSE.

The Courts.

THE ELKAN MURDERERS DISPOSED OF.

In Department One yesterday morning, before the trial of the Healey case was resumed, Ethan Allen Feeler, the shock-headed youth already convicted of the murder of Camille Elkan, appeared before Judge Smith to receive sentence.

The penalty already having been fixed by the jury who convicted him at imprisonment for life, nothing remained but for Judge Smith to formally pronounce the sentence in the manner prescribed by law and, after the usual perfunctory had been disposed of, this was done, the only question about which the convicted man could have entertained any doubt was as to whether he would be committed to the State Prison at San Quentin or Folsom, and which Judge Smith decided for him by deciding upon the latter place. A long-drawn sigh escaped from Feeler's parted lips. Beyond that, however, he gave no sign, and did not even raise his eyes toward his accuser, Feeler followed Bailiff Marsh from the courtroom.

Healey, who occupied a seat near by, did not appear to be as much interested in the scene being enacted before him, as did many of the spectators in the body of the courtroom.

THE HEALEY CASE.

When the Healey case was called, after the few ex parte matters on the calendar had been disposed of, Judge Smith announced that, after due deliberation upon the objections raised by the defense on Monday to that part of ex-Sheriff Cline's testimony which related to the alleged confession of the defendant in the County Jail, he had decided to sustain them. That portion of Cline's evidence was accordingly ordered stricken out, and the jury directed to disregard the same.

The taking of testimony was thereupon resumed, N. T. Kinnam, the Town Marshal of Los Angeles, who had been recalled by the prosecution for the purpose of confirming certain matters of minor importance. This closed the case for the State, and the jury was directed to return a verdict.

There being nothing for the prosecution to rebut the case was closed, and H. C. Dillon, Esq., at once opened the argument for the defense, which was heard by the jury, who, in turn, gave way to Assistant District Attorney W. T. Williams.

The case was finally submitted to the jury at 4:45 o'clock, but, after waiting until 5:30 o'clock, Judge Smith adjourned for dinner, leaving instructions for the jury to be taken out at 6 o'clock for the same purpose.

Upon the return of Judge Smith at 7 o'clock he found the jury, defendant and counsel for the prosecution anxiously awaiting him, within reach of the jurors being brought into court.

In response to the usual question, Foreman E. K. Alexander, announced that the jurors had found that they found the defendant, Lucien T. Healey, guilty of murder in the first degree and fixed his punishment at life imprisonment.

In the absence of the defendant's counsel, Judge Smith had the jury polled, directed that the record show that the defendant was entitled to all exceptions as though his attorney were present, and set Friday morning as the time for the passing of sentence.

Healey, beyond a nervous twitching of the eyelids, betrayed no sign of the feelings he must have entertained, while the verdict was being read and recorded, but the little woman in black, who sat at his side, broke down completely and, uncontrolled, burst into tears.

As though her heart was broken. Her husband appeared to consider himself in luck, for he shook hands with the few acquaintances who were present, and then, placing his arm around his weeping wife, attempted to console her, as the jurors and spectators filed out of the courtroom.

REED-CROSS CASE DECIDED.

Judge McKinley yesterday rendered his decision in the case of F. C. Reed vs. John Cross, an action arising out of the purchase of eighty acres of land in San Luis Obispo county, where the defendant judgment being ordered for the defendant, in accordance with the following opinion:

"It is clear that in this action the defendant is bound by the findings in the former action between the same parties as to all issues of fact which arose in the former action and were determined therein. As to all such matters the findings in the former action are conclusive, and this court can make no finding inconsistent with them.

"As to all matters not so determined the court must follow the testimony of defendant in regard to the transaction between himself and plaintiff, as it is uncontradicted. Upon that basis the court finds that the defendant is entitled to a judgment in his favor.

"Under those findings plaintiff cannot recover in this action, because the findings established that the defendant is entitled to a judgment in his favor. The only question, then, to be determined is as to the effect of the judgment in the former action, which is determined by the effect of conclusive evidence upon the effect of the issues determined in the former action, since the cause of action upon which plaintiff seeks to recover occurred after the former action.

"The judgment has, as to the matter in issue between plaintiff and defendant, the effect of conclusive evidence upon the effect of the issues determined in the former action, since the cause of action upon which plaintiff seeks to recover occurred after the former action.

only as conclusive evidence of the facts determined. It does not even become the law of the case in a suit upon a different cause of action involving the same facts.

"It is not necessary, with this view, to discuss the other points raised in the case at length. It is of the opinion that, by the terms of the agreement between the parties, as set forth in the findings, defendant would, in the absence of the record, be entitled to a judgment in his favor. Plaintiff's cause of action did not accrue until he paid the deficiency.

"Defendant, by his agreement, was to pay one-half the cost of the land, and had plaintiff paid the whole sum at once, defendant would at that time have been liable to him for his share, but as he did not, it is not until he paid the mortgage and consent of defendant, postponed the time of payment by the giving of a mortgage, he could not recover from defendant until he paid the mortgage.

"When he did that his cause of action accrued, and from that time the statute of limitations began to run, but the time had not expired when the cause of action did not accrue until he paid the deficiency.

"Judgment will, therefore, be ordered in favor of defendant, for his costs, without other relief."

DAMAGE SUIT ON TRIAL.

In Department Three yesterday the case of Clarys B. Coleman vs. the Los Angeles Consolidated Electric Railway Company, an action for $10,000 damages, came up for trial before Judge York and a jury, but was not concluded and will be resumed this morning.

The plaintiff, who is a minor, alleges in his complaint that, on July 4 last, he was permitted by defendant's employees to ride on a cable car from the corner of First and Broad streets to the eastern terminus of the line, where he resided, but that when the car reached said terminus, owing to the negligence of the defendant, he was thrown violently to the ground and run over by said car. That as the result of said accident plaintiff has been permanently injured to his damage in the sum of $10,000.

The defendant, on the other hand, claims that the boy jumped upon the car without the knowledge or consent of defendant's employees, paid no fare, and was a trespasser at the time of the accident, and any injuries he received were due to contributory negligence on his part.

DIVORCE BUSINESS.

John S. Tyler, a gray-headed, lanky old rancher, applied Judge Clark yesterday for a decree of divorce from his wife, Mary, upon the ground of her habitual intemperance, and occupied the attention of the court all afternoon.

The defendant, who is reputed to be the third wife of the plaintiff, is contesting the suit upon the ground that not only has her spouse condoned her offense, but that he has cohabited with her since the date of the filing of the petition. As Tyler owns a threshing machine and other property, valued at about $25,000, it is not difficult to imagine why Mrs. Tyler, who is no longer a young woman, is desirous of maintaining her position.

The case will be resumed this morning at 10 o'clock.

The court heard and granted the application of W. H. English for a decree divorcing him from his wife, Anna, on the ground of desertion yesterday, by default.

The defendant in the divorce case of Mary Mayers vs. Peter Mayers was yesterday ordered by Judge Shaw to pay his wife $25 per month alimony during the pendency of the action.

Court Notes.

Judge Smith being occupied with the Feeler case yesterday the trial of that against Arthur Beverly was continued until January 30 next.

John Chapman appeared before Judge Smith in Department One yesterday morning and entered his plea of not guilty to the charge of burglary preferred against him. A motion for a new trial was set for trial on March 4 next.

Upon motion of the District-Attorney information was filed in Department One yesterday charging Herman Jensen and Frank Swift with burglary, and "Kid" Thompson with train robbery. All three defendants were ordered to appear for arraignment on Monday next.

The taking of testimony for the defendants in the case of Sarah E. McDonald et al. vs. J. H. W. Patterson et al., again occupied Judge Van Dyke's attention yesterday, and will be resumed on Thursday.

The defendants in the case of M. Norman vs. A. E. McFarland et al., an action for a mortgage on property at Crescenta Canada for $1985.16 having submitted to a default, Judge Van Dyke yesterday ordered a decree against them, as prayed.

Datzler, an Austrian, was duly admitted to citizenship of the United States by Judge Shaw yesterday, upon producing the necessary proof of qualification and taking the oath of citizenship.

In Department Five yesterday morning the hearing of the application for a writ of review in the case of W. Morgan vs. the Board of Trustees of the City of Pasadena was concluded, the matter at close of the argument being submitted to and taken under advisement by Judge Shaw.

Judge McKinley tried the case of S. Lyons & Son vs. F. A. Marcher et al., an action to recover $450 and interest alleged to be due on a note, which the defendant claimed was given in payment for a lot of "rover" stones of great little or no value, and at the close of the evidence ordered findings and judgment for the plaintiffs.

The defendants in the case of R. T. Adams vs. M. Rivera et al., having submitted to a default, Judge McKinley yesterday afternoon ordered judgment against them, as prayed. The action was brought to recover possession of a piece of property fronting on Upper Main, Alpine and Alameda streets.

LETTERS TO THE TIMES.

"Our Steve."

LOS ANGELES, Jan. 21.—(To the Editor of the Times.) I like your attitude toward Stephen M. White in Sunday's editorial. I know he is roundly criticized by many even in his own political party. Some persons jump at conclusions too readily. . . . Mr. White has not yet finished his career as Senator, nor brought to fulfillment his plans. Let's wait till he has time to give him a full and ample time for careful movements, and then, if he proves false to himself and to his friends, who placed him there, almost irrespective of party, because through years of sober, candid and honorable citizenship, they had learned to respect, trust and believe in him, then censure and chastisement will be in order.

Years ago, when Los Angeles was little more than a hamlet, and Senator White was plain "Steve" White, I was, through business methods, cognizant of many of his moods and movements, and that studious, unassuming and courteous gentleman really has developed into a shrewd, scheming, dishonorable politician, then I certainly would be "at sea" as to whom the sacred mantle of public confidence might be safely entrusted.

ELLA LUCY MERRIAM.

The New City Government.

LOS ANGELES, (Cal.) Jan. 22, 1895.—(To the Editor of the Times.) The new city government has now been in office for more than two weeks, during which time nearly everything has been arranged according to the programme prepared by the city, though the delay occasioned in making some of the appointments and the apparent difficulties which were met would seem to indicate that the machine had not worked with that degree of smoothness calculated upon and expected, and might possibly have slipped a cog or two or be in need of oiling here and there, but this is a big and important machine, and the programme with the hope of deducing the public into the belief that the distribution of all city offices and patronage was not fully programmed and arranged for, in the conventions or before, for political purposes only. So far as the appointments have been made, it would appear to be an ordinary citizen, even after careful inquiry, that there has not been a single position filled wherein the question of the competence of the workmen of the applicants was given any consideration whatever, nor were the desires and wishes of those portions of the community with which the respective officers will have to deal in their official capacities asked for or even noticed when they were volunteered. The only qualification which has been put upon the appointments, has been the political "pull."

This work has been carried out according to programme, all but the appointment of Superintendent of Parks, and the politicians are now saving a great struggle over this office, or pretending to have. The Park Commission meets weekly, holds a secret session of two or three hours duration, and the members of the commission are feelingly referred to the election of a park superintendent, and after an exchange of remarks more or less acrimonious between some of the members, in which agreements that have been made in the past are being referred to, the election of a park superintendent is calmly postponed. How long is this state of affairs to last? If the boss is really having trouble in getting his programme carried out, why will he take him to overcome it and seat him? Or if it is only a subterfuge for the purpose of giving an appearance of deliberation and fairness to the transaction, how long is the farce to be kept up? We could only be assured that this will last during the entire term, it would be well for the parks are now in good, competent hands.

There are several applicants for the position of Superintendent and among them all there is one man, so far as I can ascertain, who has been through the appointment upon fitness, competence, ability and approval by the general public, so far as can be seen, the others rely solely upon political influence to boost them into a position which should be one of the furthest removed from all things political. If any of these other applicants can show any evidence of experience, knowledge or ability which would fit him for the position, why do we not hear of that instead of the relative strength of their respective "pulls?" Briefly stated, the position is this: We have as an applicant for this place, a man of mature years, with great natural adaptability to the work, who has spent many years in studies and pursuits pertaining thereto which have given him a rare knowledge of the duties which he will be called upon to perform, from his knowledge of the city, and his position to which he has served this city for some time in the same capacity, successfully and satisfactorily, the excellent progress already made in the parks and their present good condition, being due to his ability and good judgment. Arranged against him we have an army of political henchmen, all striving for the prize, all of whom are advancing their political influences as the reason why they should be selected, and not one of whom can show any evidence to a single attribute which renders him eligible for the place.

The Park Commission is not serving the interests of the people by thus delaying and doubting as to whom they shall appoint. Aside from the public schools, it is doubtful if there is any portion of the city's affairs in which the public is more interested, in which it has a better right to be interested to the exclusion of all others, or with which the politician has less right to meddle than in the parks, and every honest citizen should exert himself to see that no corrupting influences are permitted to taint the management of the parks. There is a wide difference between this able man and the incompetent who oppose him. The commission should at once reappoint the incumbent and thereby give the people assurance that at least one department of the city government is clear of the stinking slough of politics.

ONE IN FAVOR OF MERIT.

The Price of School Books.
(Oskaloosa, Iowa, paper.) One thing that makes school books seem higher is because people have to buy a whole book at a time. That is, they can't buy five or ten cents' worth at a time, as they buy tobacco, cigars, etc. Nobody complains of the high price of tobacco. Yet Oskaloosa sells more cigars and tobacco every year than would buy all the text books, besides paying all its teachers and superintendents, and keeping the schoolhouse and grounds in repair, besides furnishing every family in the city a $4 magazine and a good weekly paper, and still have a balance. Why don't some of the members of the Legislature to regulate the price of tobacco by entering into competition with dealers?

The "Annual" in San Francisco.
A citizen has received the following: SAN FRANCISCO, Jan. 15, 1895.—My Friend: I am indebted to you for a copy of the special trade edition of the Los Angeles Times. It is a splendid paper and reflects great credit alike upon the enterprising journal and your beautiful city. I have read it with much interest and am pleased to note the rapid progress Los Angeles is making. It was very kind of you to thus remember me, and I thank you very much. Business is very dull up North. G. P.

Concerning the Fish Family.
ABLE AND POINTED LETTER FROM A POPULIST.
"PIRU (Cal.) 1:16:1895.—To the Editor of the Los Angeles Times—Col. Otter: I see in a recent issue of your paper a short sketch in regard to the populist fish that was caught in the gulf of Mexico or somewhere thereabouts.

Must and can say with the truth that if there is a wider mouth devil fish anywhere in existence that the editor of the Times will have to produce it.

POPULIST.

ANXIOUS TO IMPROVE.

The People of the Southwest are Getting into Line.

The Southwest Los Angeles Mutual Improvement Association, recently organized for the purpose of inaugurating permanent improvement for which the residents individually see the necessity, but lack strength to compass without concerted action, has established headquarters at Paul's Hall, West Washington street. The members are all residents of that part of the city and of Rosedale district, and are anxious to place it in line with other portions of the city. The opening of incomplete streets, left in cul-de-sac in "beaten" times, the planting of shade trees, the widening of streets, the grading and sidewalk of streets, and the erection of public buildings, are all questions that will be dealt with by the association.

United action is rendered all the more necessary by reason of the lack of compulsory enactments governing street improvements outside the corporate limits. Perhaps the most urgent need in that portion of the southwestern district is adequate transportation facilities to and from the business center. The multi-car service from the junction of Washington and Esplanade is by no means sufficient, and at least a room for improvement of a car line is one of the first matters that will be agitated by the association. The question has become one of land values and the residents do not propose having their property depreciated simply because a corporation fails to appreciate the value of its franchise on Washington street, and is disinterested of its obligations in that direction.

If the new improvement association contrives to accomplish half of what it has set out to do it will not have been organized in vain, and as the project is now awakened and new projects are constantly being brought forward, it will, doubtless, resolve itself into a permanent organization.

THE POLICE COURT.

A Comparatively Light Docket is Disposed of.

Judge Owens yesterday had rather a small police docket, but disposed of a few cases held over.

Lee Kim, Lucy Foo and Ah Young were held to answer to the charge of assault with intent to murder. The first two at $2000 bail each and Ah at $1000. It is thought this will put a damper on future highbushings.

Charley Ah Him recently arrived in Chinatown "on business," and "learning" of the danger of traveling around among the bushbuckling highbushers, he procured a guard in the person of a constable named Ah Jim and a junior cannon such as the heathen afford. Thus conveyed he sallied forth, but an officer noted the event and finally held up the highbusher. A search revealed the gun. A fine of $25 was promptly paid, but "what is a fellow to do?" asks the subtle Ah Him, with a shrug.

W. G. Huston was arraigned on the charge of battery preferred by Sam H. Garrett before Justice Owens yesterday and his examination was set for January 24 at 9:30 a.m.

The case against Addison H. Schwartz, charged with obtaining money by false pretenses, a bogus check was passed on Peter Lohman, was dismissed by Justice Morrison yesterday on the ground of lack of evidence to convict.

Leona Danduff, charged by Dr. Dunton with petty larceny, was discharged from custody yesterday, Judge Morrison deeming the evidence insufficient to convict.

YOUNG THIEVES.

A Troublesome Gang Broken Up by the Police.

For quite a while citizens in different parts of town have been very much annoyed by petty burglaries, petty larcenies, etc., and numerous complaints have been poured into the police department. Detectives Auble and Hawley have been at work on the case and have broken up the gang of youngsters, who have been trying to emulate the Steadman gang in this city. The names are: Ed Whitton, 13 San Pedro street, Joe Ybronda, Eighth near Los Angeles street, Bob Lyons of Eighth street, and Frank O'Rourke of Winfield street.

They stole all manner of property, from handkerchiefs, rope, carpenter's tools, etc., and on January 4 broke the Eighth-street and Spring-street schools to steal hats, coats and dinner pails. They would also force notes from their parents to different store-keepers, on which they would get goods.

The youngsters will probably be sent to Whittier to be made good boys of.

Charges Fraud.

H. H. Hill was arrested yesterday for a felony-misdemeanor on a warrant sworn to by Ira G. Hoag of No. 750 South Olive street.

Hill does business at No. 205 West Third street, and resides at No. 410 Temple street. Hoag alleges that on January 15, 1895, Hill obtained money by false pretenses, in that he sold to him for $25 the formula and the right to manufacture and sell Hill's hard oil polish in Los Angeles and the surrounding territory, and an exclusive right.

Hoag says Hill represented falsely and fraudulently, having made the same terms with others. The case was set for January 29, at 9:30 a.m., with bail at $100.

Taken for Folsom.

Ethan Allen Folsom, convicted of murder, was taken by Deputy Sheriff McClure to Folsom yesterday to serve a life imprisonment for the crime.

FAMILY TIES BROKEN.

Brutal Treatment of a Young Wife by Her Husband.

This city seems to be the Mecca of gay young bridegrooms intent upon "shaking" their wives. Within the last few months several events of this kind have been recorded, and one developed yesterday that is particularly aggravated. The parties are from St. Louis, and have been here only about three months. Two fond hearts were united there two years ago and Mr. and Mrs. William Ebers were the happy pair. She was a pretty girl, had some property, and was fifteen years old. He was a handsome lad of 22, clerking in a hardware store. That was two years ago, and they now have a baby 4 months old. Mrs. Ebers agreed to her husband's proposition to remove to Los Angeles, and duly paid the expenses of the trip. He had been very rough and passionate for some time, but since his arrival here, she said, he has been positively brutal, and, maybe, insane, flying into frenzies and then cutting up her clothing with his knife.

At last she could stand it no longer, and Monday, when he was away, she took her child and fled to her mother's home, taking the child with her to the Madison house. Yesterday she took the child to the house of a kindly negro milkman named Jackson, where she obtained fresh milk for it, and left the little one there with the wife while she went to Ludwig Wagner's at the Most Market to get some food for herself.

While she was gone, Ebers, who evidently had been watching her movements, stepped into the Jackson house, picked up the child and disappeared down the street. Mrs. Ebers was nearly distracted when she returned, and immediately reported the matter to Capt. Roberts. He detailed Officer Dietrich to look up the case, but the man had left not only up to a late hour had not been found.

Triar Treatment FREE.

A Wonderful Invention. We can CURE Consumption.

It is a fact acknowledged by the medical profession that phthisis pulmonalis (consumption) is a germ disease, that the germ has been found, and that it is known what will destroy it when out of the body.

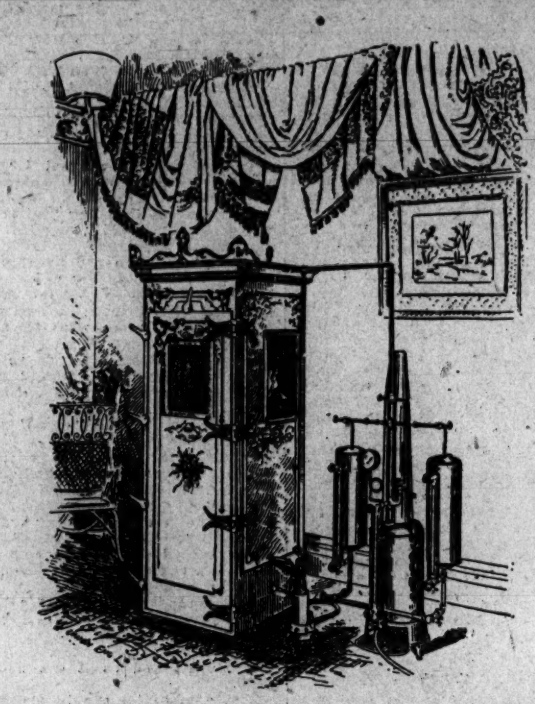

Admitting the above theory to be correct, we enter at once into the discussion of the treatment. Since the disease is admitted to be a germ disease, there can be but two rational modes of treatment. One is to kill the germ, and then allow nature, by the physician's aid, to repair the damage, and the other is to render the system that the germ cannot live in. The latter has been the line upon which the battling has hitherto been done, and you have but to refer to the records to see how utterly the army of physicians have been routed, while the army of germs march proudly on their uninterrupted way to destroy and to destruction.

Among the most promising agents for success in this line of treatment is the cresote, internally, and guracol. We have not a word to say against their use, nor have we yet an opinion to express as to their efficacy, but we would insist that the more rational plan is to "lay the ax at the root of the tree," to "beard the lion in his den," to destroy the enemy by a direct attack, assault rather than to trust to a doubtful siege. How can this best be done?

You would not expect to do it by pouring medicine into the stomach to Nixon's new method of Compulsory Inhalation for the treatment of Consumption, Asthma and Catarrh gives a direct application of the medicine to the throat, head and lungs, and fills a long-felt want. If there is any merit in inhaling the atmosphere in this glorious climate of Southern California, there must certainly be merit in inhaling a atmosphere scientifically medicated.

PASADENA.

WOMEN WHO DO NOT KEEP SILENCE IN CHURCH.

Interesting Meetings of the Universalist Church—Musical and Social Events—The Highland Car Line.

PASADENA, Jan. 22.—(Special Correspondence.) The fact that the Broadway railroad franchise matter is yet uncertain, though, as far as the first case is concerned, the Superior Court is concerned, the labor of the lawyers are at an end. City Attorney Arthur's motion to dismiss the action was argued at the Monday afternoon session of Judge Shaw's court and Attorney Stevens followed with counter-argument. Judge Shaw today Attorney Harpman, for Trustees Lukens and Hamilton, presented a separate answer for the clients and asked the court to declare void the proceedings in the Board of Trustees by which Trustee Cox was elected president of the board. The court also elected the president by saying he had heard enough and took the case under advisement, to give his decision at some future time.

FOR CHURCH EXTENSION.

Another good-sized audience was present at the meeting of the Universalist Women's Association meeting at the church last evening. The evening exercises were opened by music by the choir and a prayer by Rev. Florence E. Kollock. Mrs. H. B. Manford, president of the association, introduced Mrs. W. E. Chapin, who made an address on the subject, "Let Your Women Keep Silence in the Churches." This admonition from St. Paul would not have been uttered, according to the speaker, had he been a married man and consequently possessed of a better opinion of women and their usefulness. After deprecating the author of that sentiment in a manner that must have made him wince if he had heard it, the eloquent speaker referred to the women who have been notable in the world's history and who did not keep silence in the churches and other public places. The cause of woman is so linked with that of man that the latter should always espouse it instead of following the precept of the saint above quoted.

When Mrs. Chapin had concluded, Mrs. Manford introduced Rev. Amanda Deyo, who discoursed on the sermon on the Mount. Her was a very able address in which the speaker impressed on her hearers the value of the fatherly and motherly spirit which sustains home, church, school and city. The address was concluded by Mrs. Gaylord and Mrs. Rachel Reid.

A PRETTY MUSICAL.

Miss Helen Nelson entertained a party of friends with a musical Monday evening at the residence of her father, Judge Nelson, North Pasadena. The house was beautifully decorated with flowers and roses in profusion. The participants were: E. H. Clark, the well-known violinist of Los Angeles; Miss Stearns and Messrs. Hanner, pianists; Misses Van Doren and Runyan, pianists; Master James Ray, violinist; and Miss Ellsworth, accompanist. Mr. Clark's masterly rendering of the violin was especially appreciated, being marked by the accuracy, delicacy and expression for which he is noted. Those present were: Mr. and Mrs. Nelson, Mrs. W. E. Doren, Mr. and Mrs. Hanner, Mr. and Mrs. Vedder, Mr. and Mrs. Nelson, Mrs. C. R. Ray, Hunter, Hartley, Chandler, McCray, Little, Sandeman, Wilson, Messrs. Van Doren, Doreen, Bartman, Stearns, Monfort, Robinson, Runyan, Messrs. E. H. Clark, M. E. Robbins, C. L. Miller, E. N. Field, H. Monfort, E. F. Chandler, Sandeman, Robinson and Dr. Cloud. The programme was:

"Hungarian Rhapsody," No. 6, (Liszt)—Miss Van Doren.
"Lullaby" (Schumann)—Miss Stearns.
Intermezzo from "Cavalleria Rusticana," "Kuyaniak" (Winiawski)—Master James Ray.
Sonata, Violin and piano, (Gade)—Miss Ellsworth and E. H. Clark.
"The Pardon-Came Too Late" (Paul Dresser)—Charles Monfort.
"Zenguerena Weisen" (Gade)—E. H. Clark.

CAMP COMFORT.

The disagreeable weather which prevailed last week, but is now a memory of the past, had one effect which is not generally known. It broke up the camp of hobos which has been maintained for some time past in the clump of small trees at the foot of Raymond hill, near the Santa Fe station. The trees afforded such poor shelter for the tramps that they broke camp and established headquarters in an abandoned cottage in South Pasadena, the Terminal Railway's Fair Oaks station. The hobos kept themselves posted, and know that while they are outside the city limits, they are safe from the depredations of the chain gang. What South Pasadena proposes to do with the unwelcome sojourners remains to be seen.

MACCABEES INSTALLATION.

The Knights and Ladies of the Maccabees had a delightful installation of officers at 8 P. M. Monday evening, which was made a happy occasion, the business session being followed by a social, with feasting and dancing. The officers of the Knights were: P. O. Priest, commander; W. H. Korstian, lieutenant; commander; F. E. Burnham, record keeper; J. W. Eysen, finance keeper; W. S. Albaugh, chaplain; C. A. McKinley, sergeant; J. H. Plant, master-at-arms; H. F. Ives, second M. of G.; Olaf Lagerfeldt, sentinel. They were installed by J. K. Kelly, past commander.

The officers of Pasadena Hive, Ladies of the Maccabees, were installed by Mary L. Furman, past lady commander, and were: Mrs. Kittle A. Prince, lady commander; Mrs. Mary E. Shaw, lady lieutenant; Mrs. L. A. Connelley, lady record keeper; Mrs. Luella Clark, lady finance keeper; Mrs. Mary E. Clark, lady chaplain; Mrs. Rosea Storey, lady sergeant; Miss Agnes Beaman, mistress-at-arms; Miss Ida O. Lacy, lady picket.

ECHO MOUNTAIN NOTES.

Many visitors from the East registered at Echo Mountain today. A large number were of the Raymond excursionists, who are daily arriving in the valley. Among the notable ones who registered were: Mrs. Angus Smith of Wilwaukee, Wis., who, with J. Hoyt Smith, Charles Ray and Mrs. Katherine Rogers, are at the Raymond Hotel. William T. Shaw and among others who are spending the night on the summit.

A party of eight or ten are registered for the express purpose of looking through the great telescope of the Lowe

ORANGE COUNTY.

THE CHAIN-GANG AT WORK AT SANTA ANA.

Meeting of the Board of Supervisors. Much County Business Cleared Up—News Notes and Personals.

SANTA ANA, Jan. 22.—(Special Correspondence.) There is always a black sheep in the flock. Therefore, there was no surprise manifested by pedestrians yesterday morning when a big double-fisted hobo loomed up in the chain gang as that body of hardy tramps went marching by from the jail to North Main street, just beyond the Baptist church, where plenty of work had been provided for them. The negro had first provided to go out and working on the public streets with just plain, every-day white "hobos," but when the ball and chain were brought out, he weakened and meekly joined the throng, which numbered fourteen. The fellows were marched to their work by Officers Hull and Halesworth, who said that they did a good house day's work.

The gang have begun on the digging of a deep trench from beyond the Baptist church down toward Fourth street, down to the water level, for the purpose of draining the water that collects in that portion of the street and floods the sidewalk at every rain of any consequence. After this work is completed, the excavations have been made so that there will be steady employment for all the unemployed who may come this way.

BOARD OF SUPERVISORS.

The Board of Supervisors met yesterday, all the members being present. The hearing of the petition of A. E. Jefferson et al. for a new public highway in the Newport road district was laid over to be taken up at the pleasure of the board. The petition from J. D. Price et al., asking for a new road in the Garfield district, was referred to Supervisor Hawkins. The matter of putting gas fixtures in the County Surveyor's office was referred to Supervisors Arnold and Nickley.

W. S. Taylor appeared before the board, asking that $25 per month be appropriated for rent and for maintaining an exhibit of the products of the county in the Los Angeles Chamber of Commerce rooms. The matter of replacing Mrs. Whigham on the indigent list was referred to Supervisor Hawkins. The matter of devising some means of protecting the chain of the Santa Ana River, near Olive, was brought up by several property-owners in that portion of the Valley. After some discussion it was decided that the board should furnish wire only for such improvement; that the property-owners would have to do the remainder of the work whatever that might be.

The matter of removing trees from the route in position of the Santa Ana River District was disposed of by allowing the petitioners to have the wood upon paying for the taking of it out.

The audit was directed to transfer $150 from the general road fund to the Trabuca road fund.

The application for a bridge on the western boundary of the county line was referred to Supervisor Potter, with instructions to confer with the Supervisor from Los Angeles county.

The question of obstructions in the natural channel of the Santa Ana River in the Third Supervisor District was referred to Supervisor Potter, with instructions to correspond with the Santa Fe Railroad and to report at a future meeting.

An application for appointment to County Veterinary Surgeon, was received from Dr. Roland Lord and the same was ordered filed.

A communication from the chairman of the Board of Supervisors of Mendocino county relative to increasing the compensation of the members of the board of Supervisors was received, and the same was ordered filed.

An ordinance amending ordinance No. 27, an ordinance providing for the working of tramps, was introduced and passed.

The matter of redistricting the supervisor districts was brought up and a petition from A. M. Filpen et al., asking that the Olive precinct be transferred to the Fourth Supervisor District, was read on the table. The board adjourned to Monday, February 4.

A DANGEROUS HOLE.

There is a dangerous hole on South Main street a few hundred yards north of R. E. Hewitt's residence. Sunday afternoon several tramps were victims of a very serious "puddle," and as a result there were broken bones, sprains, broken harness and shafts, and a number of badly lacerated people. The hole is in the west wheel track in the road and is filled with "slush," so that even a cautious driver would not likely drive around it. Two young men late in the afternoon ran plow into the hole. The horse became frightened and after breaking up the harness and a spring to the buggy, came near running away.

SANTA ANA TRUSTEES.

The Santa Ana Trustees met in regular session Monday afternoon, with all members, except Edinger, present.

The petition of F. W. Burgess et al., asking the board to order down a cement walk along the north side of Fourth street, from Main street to the Santa Fe depot, was read and the same was denied.

The petition of Linn L. Shaw and others, asking for cement walk to be laid on the south side of Fourth street, from Main street to the Santa Fe depot, was granted. The board then recommended that the pepper trees along the south side of the street, when the walk is laid to be laid be taken out, after which it was ordered that the new walk be made with a good redwood curb.

The petition of S. A. Jones, Walter St. John, A. Fischer, Felipe Zerrate, C. P. Ely and C. Miller, asking for saloon licenses for the month of February, 1895, was granted.

Resolution No. 50, requiring the construction of a sidewalk on the south side of Fourth street, between Ross and Birch streets, was read and the same was granted.

Resolution No. 51, requiring the construction of a sidewalk on the north side of French street, between Ross and Birch streets, was read and the same was granted.

Resolution No. 200, amending sec. 9 of ordinance No. 191, entitled, "An ordinance regulating the sale of vinous, malt, mixed, spirituous and other intoxicating liquors," was read and the same was granted.

A resolution granting permission for the building of an overhead bridge from the Union Block to the Haneler-Rutan Block passed.

Adjourned to Tuesday evening, January 23.

ANNUAL MEETING OF THE ARROWHEAD CLUB.

New Board of Directors Elected—Redlands Orange Shippers Preparing to Resume Operations—Personals.

A telegram was received shortly after the noon hour from Representative McKelvey, stating that George C. Perkins had been elected United States Senator on the first ballot, and in a short while the news had spread over the business portion of the city. Upon receipt of the news there was a great deal of satisfaction at the result, and in many instances it was even enthusiastic. No other selection would have pleased the voters of Orange county as well.

SOUTHERN PACIFIC TRAINS RUNNING.

Trains are now running on the Southern Pacific road. The first one since Saturday came in today at 11 o'clock from Los Angeles, and started on the return trip to Colton. The train was in good condition, and the breaks have been repaired, but notwithstanding this fact, last night it was made, and perhaps, this state of affairs will remain for several days.

SANTA ANA BREVITIES.

Announcements have been received here of the marriage of W. Frank Harris of Orange and Miss Lillian A. Butler of Los Angeles. The wedding was solemnized Sunday, January 20, at the home of the bride's parents in Sheldon. Mr. Harris is well and favorably known in this city. The bride is a well educated young woman, and the couple will make their home in Kankakee, Ill., where Mr. Harris has a good position with a large mercantile company.

Deputy Sheriff Elm has returned from San Quentin and Fresno, where he took one prisoner, and time and brought another back for a new trial. He took Lane to San Quentin and brought young Brown back from Fresno, to have a new trial. The prisoner is stealing a bicycle from a young man in Tustin.

The ministers of the city met today at 10 o'clock in the study of the Baptist church, and commenced their annual conference. The subject for the year is "The Church in the World." The conference will continue until the 25th of the month.

The loss was slight in the fire at Richardson & Overman's, Tuesday evening, mention of which was made in this morning's Times. Cliff Overman's hand was badly burned in the explosion. Aside from the loss of a few articles, the store sustained by others who fought the flames.

Parties having cast-off clothing are requested to leave the same at the City Hall, where it will be judiciously given to the poor, or the chain gang, if they are deserving.

Representative McKelvey has introduced a bill in the Assembly making the coyote count $2 per scalp instead of $3. He has also introduced a bill making it unlawful to have race meetings except between certain dates of each year.

H. H. Hannon, the noted evangelist, will begin his revival meetings in this city, commencing February 4, in Nell's Hall. All of the Protestant churches of the city have united to make this meeting a grand success.

Frank Seymour, yesterday pleaded guilty in the City Recorder's Court of the charge of being a plain drunk and was fined $10 and given a lecture. He paid the fine and was released.

The lecture of the "United States in Prophecy," which was postponed last Saturday evening, on account of the rain, will be given at the Congregational Church in this city on Sunday evening.

The regular train service over the Santa Fe has again been established since the strike. The trains are a little late, however, but they got through nevertheless.

As a result of the high water in the Santa Ana River, the bridge between this city and Anaheim were washed out Saturday night.

It was the Ancient Order of Foresters instead of the Independent Order, as stated of a few days ago, that instigated the officers of the lodge last Friday evening.

The case of the People vs. Pedro Alvarez, charged with cattle stealing from the San Joaquin ranch, was yesterday continued to the 25th of the month.

Salie Scott of Anaheim has sold a tract of fifteen acres of lot 44 of the Anaheim extension tract to Minnie E. Boyle and Lucy E. Dayton, for $8000.

Mrs. Eliza A. Wescott of Tustin, died Sunday after a brief illness. Mrs. Wescott was a native of Illinois and was 62 years of age.

James A. Brainerd has sold a six-acre ranch west of Orange to Walter A. Dyer for $7500.

SAN DIEGO COUNTY.

Storms Along the Lower Coast—The Movements of Vessels.

SAN DIEGO, Jan. 22.—(Special Correspondence.) The storm which has been terrorizing the coast since the 15th of the month, has been the last week. The steamer Carlos Pacheco arrived from Ensenada, Mexico, last night, with her smoke-stack tilted to port, and with the waves. She left here January 15, reaching Ensenada that evening, but the sea was so high that passengers were not landed until January 18. The steamer then left for Santa Domingo but was obliged to put back owing to the mountainous sea which threatened to sink the vessel. Sunday morning the steamer was salvaged for the port, arriving battered and worn. The river at Ensenada is higher than ever before recorded.

The steamer Santa Rosa arrived early this morning from San Francisco, bringing with her a party of passengers. The steamer is a new one, and is well equipped for the service.

The Common Council will hear the report of the Chief of Police tonight on the conviction of the keeper of the Casino theater for violating the liquor laws. The council people in this city are watching the pusillanimous councilmen in their consideration of the maintenance of these hell-hole propositions, and a sentiment to wipe out both the hell-hole proprietors and their allies in the Common Council, and retire them from positions in which they are more of a public nuisance than otherwise.

ANNUAL MEETING OF THE ARROWHEAD CLUB.

New Board of Directors Elected—Redlands Orange Shippers Preparing to Resume Operations—Personals.

SAN BERNARDINO, Jan. 22.—(Special Correspondence.) Arrowhead Club held its annual meeting last evening, and its rooms were well filled with members. The new directors elected were: Dr. S. C. Bogart, A. G. Kendall, T. H. Goff, S. S. Draper, S. F. Zombro, Judge F. W. Gregg and James Fleming. The board organized by electing the following officers: President, Dr. S. C. Bogart; first vice-president, A. G. Kendall; second vice-president, T. H. Goff; secretary, S. S. Draper; treasurer, S. F. Zombro. The club is in a prosperous condition and is considering the question of more commodious quarters and the addition of metropolitan features.

WILL NOT ADMIT ITS DEATH.

The Democracy of San Bernardino county will not admit that the party is dead, and last night met and perfected the organization of a county club with the following officers: President, E. E. Katz; first vice-president, George B. Cole; secretary, W. T. Harris; assistant secretary, C. A. Wescott; treasurer, A. H. Starke; executive committee, H. W. Nesbitt, J. H. Hanford, W. E. Beaver, James Murray, A. Mospelt, E. E. Katz and W. T. Harris. The club adjourned until Tuesday evening, January 23, in Judge Koenig's court-room.

CHINO RANCH COMPANY.

Today the articles of incorporation of the Chino Ranch Company were filed with the County Clerk. The powers of the corporation are very general and comprehensive. The purpose of the company is to engage in any and every manner of all kinds of real and personal property, and the engaging in every conceivable kind of business. The articles were signed January 12, 1895, and the life of the corporation is fifty years. The capital stock is $3,000,000, divided into 30,000 shares, of the par value of $100 each. The incorporators and first board of directors are:

Shares. Par Value.
C. H. Phillips $95 $95,000
C. H. Phillips, Jr. 1 100 00
A. E. Pomroy 1 100 00
C. W. Gages 1 100 00
Walter L. Vall 1 100 00

The principal place of business is Chino, in this county.

C. H. Phillips, who is the prime mover in this enterprise, is the recent purchaser of the Chino ranch from Richard Gird.

SAN BERNARDINO BREVITIES.

The Board of Supervisors, at its session this morning, instructed Deputy Auditor J. C. Pomroy to keep the list of indigents over 60 years of age and orphans and half orphans, and appointed him the county agent to collect claims against the State.

The case of the Rochester Fruit Company vs. C. W. and John F. Smith, for rents, was decided by Justice A. L. Wright of Hialeah, in favor of the company. The case grew out of a dispute in connection with the company, as its president.

The trustees of the City Library have leased the handsome residence of I. R. Brunt on Fourth street for library purposes. They have taken a lease for five years, at $35 per month.

The trial of Thomas Gourel, for the murder of Jesse Taylor, in a drunken row at the hotel on Long Creek, will be held at the Otis residence on upper State street, which Dr. Williams is now occupying, and will be one of the most brilliant social affairs ever seen in the city.

It is rumored that Dr. Williams will soon begin the erection of a $40,000 residence on his land adjoining Miss Blake's at the head of State street. This residence will be a charming one, consisting of a little bench of land half way down the bluff toward Mission creek, dotted with beautiful aces, and commanding a view of the city and the surrounding country.

On Friday night Dr. Hall will lecture on the subject "Proterozoic," for the benefit of the Natural History Society. The lecture will be given in the rooms of the Amateur Musical Club.

It is a fact not generally known that the Santa Barbara water company has quite a gang of men at work tunnelling the mountain range at the head of Dismore Canyon. This is the point which the projectors of the new and vast enterprise which is to supply all the valley with water, have proposed to pierce the range, and convey the waters of the Santa Ynez and would seem to be an indication that the company has decided to proceed.

Those of the best talent among our Santa Barbara boys have organized a new band, which will be under the leadership of Prof. J. C. Green.

News came down from Santa Ynez that last Friday night's blow developed into a general strike, the workmen of the substantial buildings and completely demolishing others.

Four vases were given a hearing in Judge Camp's court today. Three were given to the city and one sent to jail for seven days.

No action was taken last night at the meeting of physicians in regard to the tuberculosis problem, pending further reports from the State Board of Health.

Manuel Suestra's horse ran away on Orange street yesterday, but did no damage.

COLTON.

COLTON, Jan. 22.—(Special Correspondence.) At its last meeting the Board of City Trustees completed the final arrangements for the transfer of city-water bonds by passing a resolution authorizing the transfer of the bonds to the State Bank of California.

The bonds for $40,000 and were sold in Chicago at 102 per cent. The total commission amounts to $1200, and express charges, $112. The bonds net the city $32,688. These funds will be used to purchase the Colton Water Company's plant and the expense of $40,000, and still further improve and increase its efficiency. This will give Colton its own system and will enable extension of the area under cultivation and add to the value of realty in and about it.

Judge Hathaway and family have arrived from Chicago. They usually pass the winter here, where he is the owner of improved city property and several orange orchards. He is president of the Colton Water Company and his visit at this time is partly in connection with the transfer of its plant to the city under a previously-made contract.

The orange-growers are anxious for an opportunity to resume packing and shipping, which was suspended all of last week.

SANTA MONICA.

THE REGULAR MEETING OF THE TOWN TRUSTEES.

The Title of Justice of the Peace Wells Called into Question—Routine Municipal Business.

SANTA MONICA, Jan. 22.—(Special Correspondence.) At the meeting of the Town Trustees Monday evening another chapter was added to the local election aftermath, and the title of Justice of the Peace T. H. Wells was seriously questioned by that gentleman himself. The matter came to the attention of the board when Mr. Wells's bond as Town Recorder was presented for approval.

Briefly, and according to Mr. Wells's statement, the matter is this: That a section of the California constitution provides that a justice of the peace shall have been a resident of the county wherein he is to serve for twelve months prior to his election. This Mr. Wells had not been, and he had served a full year at the time of his qualification for the office of Justice of the Peace.

The Trustees proceedings in detail were the following: The first thing that occupied attention after the roll had been called and minutes of previous meeting read, was a complaint from J. C. Morgan upon the failure of the electric light on the corner of Utah and Seventh on many dark nights; also an inquiry as to the ordinance against discharge of firearms within the incorporation limits, and a similar action was taken on the matter.

The report of the Finance Committee was taken up and bills amounting to $26.88 were audited and ordered paid. Reports by Street Superintendent Richmond, Health Officer Plan, Marshal Dexter and Recorder Willis for December were read and noted. The proposed report showed December to have been a good month for accepting promissory notes from vags in payment of fines.

The Street Committee reported upon several petitions heretofore referred, among them being the petition of citizens for the removal of the old Los Angeles and Pacific Railroad track from Railroad avenue. The committee recommended that the petition be referred to the Board of Supervisors, in line with a prominent and recent action of a county officer. Action on Mr. Wells's bond as Recorder was therefore deferred.

DR. CHAPMAN'S MEETINGS.
The Usual Services at the First Presbyterian Church.

Dr. Chapman spoke as usual at the First Presbyterian Church yesterday, afternoon and evening. His subject for the afternoon was the "Guidance of the Holy Spirit."

At the evening service Dr. Chapman chose for his subject the words, "Thou Art not far from the Kingdom." The speaker said: "One soul is worth all the effort that has been put forth, and God will bless these meetings to Himself. Some people are nearer the kingdom than others; surely those who attend the services of God each Sabbath are nearer than those who never enter a church or hear the word of God spoken. Then there is the man who has deep feeling in the matter, much impressed, and in the night, meditates upon it, is deeply in earnest and feeling in the matter, who wish that they were in the kingdom and at peace with God. Such an one is surely near the kingdom."

"There are souls all around us that are almost in the kingdom, and all we need to do is to help them stand on their feet, and the light will come."

"Tonight there are some here in that same condition. The Lord help them to get the victory. Oh, how near they get, but these people that are so near are not any better off than those who are farther away."

Dr. Chapman closed with a solemn and eloquent appeal to his audience, which made a great impression. Services will be held tomorrow as usual.

George Kennan.
On Thursday evening the noted traveler and writer, George Kennan, will deliver his first lecture at the Unity Church, entitled, "Camp Life in Siberia, or Adventures in Arctic Asia."

Mr. Kennan presents vivid descriptions and analyses of the inhabitants of that region. Probably no lecturer or writer now before the literary world can explain Russian affairs so well as Kennan.

After his lecture in Denver the Republican said of it: "It is rare that one can carry this triumvirate of honors on his shoulders. Some were led in the light of his previous renown as a traveler and essayist to doubt his skill and oratory. The reality dispelled the doubt and gave the distinguished visitor an instant fame as master of the art rhetorical. His lecture was woven with exquisite skill as to shades of temperament, now pathetic, now descriptive, now humorous, in a manner that was entrancing to the listener. A round, clear voice, distinct articulation, a wonderful command of plain Anglo-Saxon, and a carriage of simple grace blend to make of the great traveler a matchless performer upon the platform, not second to his unparalleled achievements as an explorer and magazine writer. An immense audience sat in perfect spell under his wizard's wand, now silent as the grave, now roaring with laughter at his inimitable humorous delineations."

On Friday evening he will give his best effort, entitled "Russian Political Exiles." Special rates will be made to teachers and schools by calling on the A. W. Berry Stationery Company.

Special stock-taking sale

Shoe-selling Event Today.

From boy to man, from miss to mother, we can fit you all. Too many shoes of some sorts by half; too few of other kinds by half. This makes a mercantile move necessary. These too many and too few of a kind sorts comprise the best leather, the best workmanship, the best style shoes in our "footery." Last week the prices went $4, $5, $6, and even $7, for men's and women's shoes. That the shoe man, with a courage that makes money in the long run, now says for

$3.00

It is now your chance.
Will you respond?

People Who Weigh and Compare

Know and get the best. Cottolene, the new vegetable shortening, has won a wide and wonderful popularity. At its introduction it was submitted to expert chemists, prominent physicians and famous cooks. All of these pronounced a natural, healthful and acceptable food-product, better than lard for every cooking purpose.

The success of Cottolene is now a matter of history. Will you share in the better food and better health for which it stands, by using it in your home?

Cottolene is sold in 3 and 5 pound pails by all grocers.

Many Wonderful Cures.
Dr. Hong Soi,

Chinese physician and surgeon, has successfully treated many patients unable to get relief from liver troubles and all other diseases. He has made many physicians in his family, having graduated and received his diploma from the medical schools of Canton.

He has made many wonderful cures of consumption, rheumatism, asthma, catarrh, kidney and liver troubles, and all other diseases. Dr. Hong Soi uses only herb medicines and no poisonous drugs. All diseases carefully and correctly diagnosed by feeling the pulse.

Many testimonials at his office of many wonderful cures. During seven years' residence in Los Angeles he has cured over 4500 people.

NEED BE PAID US

Until We Cure You.

No guarantee or Security whatever is demanded. We trust to the honor of our patients to pay us when cured, as is customary with all regular and reputable physicians.

We mean the above statement emphatically—it means everybody, and it is to show our sincerity, honesty and ability to cure these diseases, of which we make a specialty. We have the largest practice in Southern California, acquired by skill and moderate charges.

Our Offices are the most elaborate and private in the city, and you need see no one but the doctors. Private entrance on Third street prevents publicity. We make it a part of our business to deal in sacred confidence with our patients. We have abandoned the treatment of all diseases except every form of Private Weaknesses, Unnatural Secretions, "Vitality" and their effects, Blood Taints and Surgical Diseases of Men. We believe that we thereby attain the highest possible degree of success for the speedy, thorough and permanent cure of these peculiar cases. Our experience has taught us that medicines alone will not cure these diseases. Improvement begins at once upon the application of our local treatment. Our book on the nature and treatment of these diseases, together with rules for diet, exercise and sleep sent free on application; also our self-diagnosis sheet and our opinion as to the curability of the case.

Consultation, Examination and Advice absolutely Free.
